Wave of Opposition to Prison Site Sweeps Orange County

MORE GROUPS ENTER FIGHT AGAINST IT

Both Sides of Question Coming up Tuesday at Associated Meeting

A wave of opposition to location of a state penitentiary near Costa Mesa was sweeping Orange county today.

The Associated chambers of commerce plans to make it an outstanding topic at its meeting in Costa Mesa Tuesday night.

Petitions opposing the proposition will be circulated tonight at a meeting of farm bureau officers in the women's clubhouse at Garden Grove.

Water Leaders Protest
A committee representing the board of directors of the county water district announced plans to appear before the prison site commission at its next meeting and register a vigorous oral protest to back up a resolution already adopted.

The second travel section of the Ebell club here, including many of the most prominent Santa Ana women, has gone on record in opposition to the prison. Mrs. Theo Winkler, leader of the section, is taking an active part in this movement.

Petitions Continue

At Costa Mesa, which has become a hotbed of alarm and opposition to the penitentiary, still more petitions are being sought to back up those already signed by more than 500 persons. The latest request for a petition came from Balboa Island, according to Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa.

At Tuesday night's associated chambers meeting, Assembly Speaker Edward Craig, member of the prison site commission, will be present to report developments so far. There will be discussion from the floor on both sides of the question, according to Dr. Huston, president.

Riddle Favors Isolation

C. W. Riddle, former undersheriff of Orange county and a prominent leader in the Townsend movement here, called attention today to the isolated locations of San Quentin and Folsom. He has been to the prisons many times, transporting prisoners, and he explained today that the isolated location of the proposed prison is a "plus" factor.

Torrio Jailed By Federal Officers

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—A variation of the tax evasion charge that sent Al Capone to Alcatraz prison finally caught up with Johnny Torrio, once the Chicago gangster leader, and landed the man the underworld knew as "the immune" in jail today.

Torrio was held here for federal internal revenue agents after he was arrested in nearby White Plains last night while making final preparations to flee the country. Officially Torrio was booked on a federal charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of alcohol and spirits taxes.

Seek Clues in Youth's Death

FRESNO, April 23. (AP)—Police plunged today into a second day of investigation of the mysterious poisoning of Olin Lee Everts, 15-year-old high school boy, with the statement they have to date found no satisfactory explanation of the youth's mysterious death.

The source of the poison, found in the boy's stomach in large quantities, still is the focal point in the investigation.

FAME FOR IMMIGRANT BOY Started Bastanchury Ranch

By ROCH BRADSHAW

An immigrant boy without education who grew up at Aldudes, Basses-Pyrenees, France, came to Orange county in 1860 and built up a property near Fullerton which became the largest citrus grove in the world.

The immigrant boy was born in 1839, long before the Civil war in this country, and he passed away in 1909; but Domingo Bastanchury has left his name indelibly impressed on Orange county history. His achievement was brought into the limelight again yesterday with news that the larg-

Admits Murder

New York police announced that John Fiorenza (above), 24, an up-hoister's helper, had confessed to strangling Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, writer and wife of a broadcasting company executive, whose nude body was found in the bathroom of her apartment, Firenze, one of the four men who reported discovery of the body, was traced through a piece of twine found at the scene. Killed in county traffic accidents same time last year 18

Death's toll for this year mounted to 22 last night when he claimed the life of 14-year-old Solomon E. Farmer, Jr., route 1, box 10, Fullerton, who was struck down while riding his bicycle home from school. The fatal accident occurred at 5:20 p. m. on Orange-thorpe avenue near Brookhurst road, two miles west of Fullerton.

According to a report filed by California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover and Vernon Barnhill, the boy had just left a filling station at Brookhurst road and Orange-thorpe avenue and was proceeding toward his home when suddenly a car driven by Floyd Trezise, 21, West Orange-thorpe, Fullerton, crashed into the rear of the bicycle. The boy was rushed to the county hospital where he succumbed four hours later.

The lad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon E. Farmer, were away from home visiting friends, and it was not until some time later that they were informed of the fatal accident. The boy's body has been removed to the Seal mortuary, Fullerton, where Coroner Earl Abbey has announced an inquest will be held.

Young Solomon is survived by his parents, five brothers and two sisters living at the home of his parents, and a half-brother, Louis Farmer of Fullerton. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Saturday from the Seal mortuary with burial in the Fullerton cemetery. The Rev. V. C. Warren, Fullerton, will officiate.

2 Freed From Death Trap

MURDER PLOT IN DEATH OF BOY PROBED

Mother and Friend Held After Tot, 3, Dies of Blow on Head

ALTOONA, Pa., April 23. (AP)—The death of 3-year-old Matthew (Sonny) Karmendi from a broken skull suddenly became a murder case today and police pointed to an alleged conspiracy between Sonny's mother and the man who lately had been her companion at movie theaters.

Assistant District Attorney Robert J. Puderbaugh announced that Mrs. Margaret Karmendi, 24, and Roy Lockard, 24, WPA worker, both had signed sworn statements—each accusing the other of striking little Sonny with a heavy bolt or railroad spike.

The boy died Tuesday night. Lockard took him to a hospital and told police that while he was carrying Sonny home an automobile sped past and a door handle apparently pierced the baby's head.

Mother Screams
Puderbaugh said Lockard and Mrs. Karmendi met while the woman's husband, Matthew, sr., was at work in a silk mill. He said the couple walked to a deserted section of the city and waited until a car passed.

Puderbaugh said the blow was then struck and the mother ran across the road and screamed. Puderbaugh said Lockard met Mrs. Karmendi March 18 and they had frequently gone to motion pictures together in the evenings, usually taking Sonny with them. He quoted from Lockard's statement:

"Margaret frequently told of how she wished the child was out of the way so she could go to shows with me."

"Sonny always told his father and grandmother, 'Me and mama went to a show.'"

Mother's Statement
Puderbaugh said Lockard's statement recited that Mrs. Karmendi during the last walk opened her coat to show the heavy bolt and that when the opportunity came, she used it, throwing it into a field.

He said the mother's statement declared:

"Roy got a pin (meaning the bolt) out of his pocket while going over the Seventeenth street bridge. He told me, 'Something is going to happen.' I asked him what he said, 'Wait and see.'"

The statement added that about a mile farther on "Roy turned and hit the baby. I heard him groan and I screamed."

Puderbaugh said both will be formally charged with murder.

West 'Dust Bowl' Needs Rain Badly

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—AAA kept a close watch on the great western "dust bowl" today after Secretary Wallace said another dry month would bring critical conditions there.

Weather reports showed that drought conditions were severe in Oklahoma, that western Kansas was very dry, and little or no rain has fallen recently in Arkansas.

Girl, Missing 12 Days, to Lose Legs

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 23. (AP)—Twelve days lost in the Newfoundland woods cost 9-year-old Lucy Harris her legs. Physicians had to amputate her frozen limbs to save her life.

The child left her home March 26 to fish for trout in a nearby brook, and failed to return. Her uncle finally discovered her in a woods three miles from home.

Order Guards to Stay in Colorado

TRINIDAD, Colo., April 23. (AP)—Colorado national guardsmen, patrolling the southern border under martial law to prevent the entrance of alien and indigent workers, will have to operate in their own back yard, and not cross over into New Mexico, Governor Ed C. Johnson ordered today.

Mine Rescue Crews at Work

Feverishly dramatic efforts were successful by crews at the Moose River, Nova Scotia, mine to rescue the two men alive 141 feet underground after 10 days of entombment following a cave-in. Above, two miners among the many working in the rescue tapping out a message to the imprisoned men, Dr. D. E. Robertson and Charles A. Scadding. Their companion, Herman Magill, had already died. Below, Mrs. Robertson (left), who maintained a faithful vigil, conferring with Premier Angus L. MacDonald of Nova Scotia (foreground, facing her) and her brother, R. J. Ivey (center). (Associated Press photos.)

Tell How Magill Died In Patterson's Arms

HALIFAX, N. S., April 23. (AP)—The Halifax Herald today carried the following story:

"The mystery which has shrouded the death of Herman Magill in the meager shaft was solved this morning."

"For hours in that dark prison Dr. D. E. Robertson held his companion in his arms, seeking to give life saving warmth."

"Pneumonia developed. 'While he was in the throes of this disease the rescuers above pierced the roof of the level. 'Magill knew this, but he never communicated with the people on the surface."

Smoke Is Signal
"The smoke which searchers for the mine victims saw on Easter Monday formed signals."

"Daring a death of air, Magill, Robertson and Scadding burned the only two bits of dry wood in the deeps."

"They knew this was their only hope of indicating to the world above they had not been killed in the first crash."

"At no time during their imprisonment was hunger a chief factor in the situation."

Water Saves Them
"They did not suffer severely from this cause."

"They drank water freely and to this contributed their present fine condition."

"Their uncomfortable position and the fear they might not get to the surface gave chief concern."

"In the early days of their entombment the victims were able to sleep."

Bodies Provide Heat
"When they did they locked themselves in one another's arms to preserve what heat foodless bodies would generate."

"The men did not go down to the diamond drill opening often because Dr. Robertson wished to conserve strength."

"To go down to the tube where the food was dropped, the men had to travel 20 feet down and traverse water."

"The physical exertion in this was too great a risk."

MINE CAVEIN VICTIMS IN HOSPITAL

Men Laugh as Rescuers Bring Them Out of Living Tomb

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 23. Mocking the death that threatened them for 10 days, Dr. D. E. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding were rescued today from their living tombs within the abandoned Moose River gold mine.

The two men, sitting up and laughing, but keeping their eyes averted from the body of their dead companion, Herman Magill, were released from their trap by a daring rescue crew of miners who tunneled through 200 feet of "live earth."

Robertson Crawls
The 62-year-old Dr. Robertson, a noted Toronto physician, crawled with his rescuers out of the crumbling 141-foot level of the old mine and most of the way up the main operating shaft.

Placed on a stretcher, he was carried the rest of the way to the surface and emerged at 1:44 a. m., Atlantic standard time (8:44 p. m., Wednesday, Santa Ana time), into the free air he had not breathed since the mine caved in Easter Sunday.

"Thank you, boys," the doctor said, waving to the cheering, singing crowd, gathered at the mine head, as he was borne triumphantly to an emergency hospital.

The 44-year-old Scadding, more weakened by the ordeal of the long entombment, was carried all the way to the surface on a specially constructed stretcher, his rescue being completed at 1:00 a. m.

A Royal Canadian air force seaplane took Scadding to Halifax late today for hospital treatment. He was taken from the seaplane to the hospital in an ambulance.

Behind the rescued men lay the body of Magill, 30 years old, who perished in the dark underground cavern early Monday, unable to withstand any longer the torments of exposure, cold, hunger, darkness and uncertainty.

Jobless Move to Senate Chambers

TRENTON, N. J., April 23. (AP)—The group of jobless men holding a Marathon mock session of the New Jersey assembly in the assembly chamber moved down today to the senate chamber today. State authorities had asked the group to leave its quarters to permit civil service examinations to be held in the assembly room, but the group refused to go anywhere but to the senate chamber.

The jobless said they would not leave the state house until the legislature provided emergency relief funds, which became exhausted last Thursday. The legislature is in recess until Monday.

Lindberghs on Way to Riviera

BOULOGNE, France, April 23. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh, arrived here today on a British freighter. They left at once by automobile without announcing their destination.

Customs officials said they brought a large amount of baggage and their own automobile. The colonel asked the condition of roads leading to the Riviera.

Afoul of the Law

Representative Marion Zioncheck of Washington, who today was fined $45 in District of Columbia traffic court on two charges—speeding and contempt of court. When a recess was called in his hearing, he created a disturbance and was literally thrown back into his cell by burly policemen. He later was released when Chairman O'Connor of the house rules committee showed up with the $45 and paid his fines.

ZIONCHECK IS FINED $45

Congressman Forcibly Jailed During Trial For Disturbance

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Chairman O'Connor, Democrat, New York, of the house rules committee appeared at traffic court today and paid $45 in fines to obtain the release of Representative Zioncheck of Washington.

Immediately afterwards Zioncheck was released. The Washington representative had been sentenced to $20 fine or 48 hours for contempt of court in addition to $25 assessed for speeding.

Forcibly Ejected

Judge Walter J. Casey at first had made the contempt sentence $20 or 20 days, but after returning to his chambers he discovered he could not sentence to jail for more than 48 hours on this charge.

Zioncheck earlier today was forcibly ejected from court for creating a disturbance in objecting to a court recess of 45 minutes during the hearing on the speeding charge. He was locked up in a cell near the courtroom.

The courtroom was in wild disorder during the scuffle. The representative had appeared in court to face a 70-mile-an-hour speeding charge only after an earlier scuffle with a policeman at the capitol.

Own Attorney

He was acting as his own attorney in arguing the case when Judge Casey announced that the court would recess and started to retire from the bench.

"Just a minute," Zioncheck shouted, "what about my case?" "The court is recessing," Judge Casey told him.

"I'm taking a recess, too," Zioncheck replied in a loud voice. The representative picked up his hat and coat and started to walk out. Several policemen and court bailiffs grabbed him. There was a short scuffle. He was then led to the rear of the courtroom, taken outside and put in the cell.

KIDNAPED YOUTH ESCAPES

Identifies His Abductor

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 23. (AP)—Ten-year-old Henry T. Koch, son of a department store executive, was kidnapped on his way to school today but escaped as his father received a demand for $20,000 ransom. Police said a man they arrested admitted the abduction.

Young Koch, bound and gagged with tape and left in a woods on the outskirts of Allentown, cut the tape on his legs with a rock. He ran to a farm nearby and got aid.

A man seized near the scene described himself as John James, of Chicago. They said a roll of adhesive tape and four prepared ransom notes were in his pockets. The notes were arranged in orderly fashion, each succeeding one stronger in tenor than the previous.

They drove along the Little Lehigh river a few miles southwest of the city where the man walked of the boy to a knoll in the woods and left him lying on the ground.

The father, Henry T. Koch, partner in the firm of H. Ley & Co., had received the ransom note by messenger just before his son telephoned from the farm.

Ethiopians Report Big Victory in South as Fascist Bombs Fall

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
ADDIS ABABA, April 23.—Ethiopian troops blasted whole sections of the Dessye-Addis Ababa road today in a supreme effort to stem the Italian advance as Ras Nasibu reported victory after a fierce three-day battle in the south.

Reports received at government headquarters said troops under the personal direction of Emperor Haile Selassie were continuing a major offensive south of Dessye. As an emergency measure in defense of the capital, the sections of the highway were being hurried over almost perpendicular cliffs.

Claim Drive Stopped
From the Ethiopian chieftain's headquarters at Daggah Bur, Ras Nasibu reported the Fascist army's drive in Ogaden province was brought to a standstill.

The southern Ethiopian commander said the Blackshirts were devious "several 10s of kilometers" south of Badudanan. The Italian leader, Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, rushed reinforcements to and compelled the Ethiopians to retire to Badudanan, Ras Nasibu declared.

"Thousands Killed"
An official communique claimed "several thousand Italians were killed and several enemy planes were brought down."

The communique asserted the Italian position on the front south of Dessye was "precarious, harassed by troops under Ras Kabada and Azebo and Galla tribes." (Italian communique previously reported the Fascist invaders were being assisted by the tribesmen.)

CLEMENTS SAYS HUEY LONG'S AIDE WAS ON TOWNSEND PAYROLL

MERGER PLAN REVEALED BY EX-LEADER

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—House investigators said today they would seek to learn whether Huey P. Long's share-the-wealth movement contemplated joining forces.

While Robert E. Clements, resigned national secretary of the Townsend organization, disclosed to the committee that he conferred with Long shortly before the Louisiana senator's death, he denied consolidation of the two movements was discussed.

'Common Ground'

Clements said his meeting with Long was arranged by Mrs. Mary Swanson, a newspaper correspondent who "thought there might be a common ground" between Long's organization and the Townsend movement.

He added he was interested in the meeting primarily because of the opportunity to "meet a spectacular figure."

"But you were something of a spectacular figure yourself, weren't you?" asked Lucas.

"I wouldn't say so," answered Clements. "I had a very interesting 30 minutes or so with Senator Long, but he did not agree with the Townsend plan any more than I did with his share-the-wealth movement."

On Townsend Payroll

Clements said under questioning that Earl J. Christianberry, secretary to Long, was on the Townsend organization payroll at $150 a week for a time after the senator's death but resigned when Mrs. Huey Long was appointed to the senate.

'He did not have duties at that time,' said Clements in answer to a question, "but I felt he would be valuable to the Townsend organization here in Washington, particularly during this session of congress."

Clements also testified concerning his own affairs, saying he received $50,000 for his share in the Townsend national weekly when he resigned.

L. A. HEARING NOT TO BE 'THREE RING CIRCUS'

LOS ANGELES, April 23. (AP)—Public hearings on Townsend movement affairs, with no "three-ring circus" aspect, will be held here next Monday and Tuesday.

Announcement of the hearings before a congressional subcommittee was made last night by Representative Joseph A. Gavan, a committee member.

The hearings, he said, "will not be turned into a three ring circus to permit the entry of everyone who is convinced that by paying 35 cents a month dues into a private enterprise can insure himself for $200 a month forever from the federal government."

MORE ABOUT MINE RESCUE

who effected the rescue said, "we didn't like to bring up" the body.

Body Taken Last

Covered with a sheet and carried on a stretcher, the body of Magill was taken to the surface after Dr. Robertson and Scadding were released safely and provided with long-needed care.

Humble in the face of death but thankful that two had been saved, the miners who succeeded in the rescue, the officials who directed their work and the spectators who were drawn to this isolated settlement by the international anxiety attending the entombed, joined in singing:

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Scadding, who had slept in the little mine office building and made their headquarters there while waiting and praying for the rescue, went to their husbands' sides as they were removed to the emergency hospital.

The three physicians in charge of the medical unit, Dr. H. K. MacDonald, Dr. N. D. Rankin and Dr. Ian MacDonald, announced at 2:10 a. m.:

Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding arrived at the improvised hospital at 1:10 a. m. today. Dr. Robertson's physical and mental condition is excellent. It is much better than anticipated. We feel he will have a rapid recovery.

"Alfred Scadding's condition is surprisingly good. His feet were cold and swollen and somewhat blistered, but we do not anticipate further trouble."

A coroner's jury was called to determine the cause of the death of Magill, Toronto barrister and partner with Dr. Robertson in ownership of the gold mine.

Both Dr. Robertson and Scadding were bright and cheerful when three Draegermen, experienced in mine rescues and emergency work, succeeded at last in breaking from the main operating shaft into a 141-foot level that was their prison.

Jack Simpson of nearby Stellaraton, captain of the Draegermen crew; George Morrell of Stellaraton and H. Hirschfield of Golden-ville passed, one after the other, the last barrier of fallen rock that held the prisoners within the earth.

Trembling with excitement, Dr. Robertson and Scadding thanked the men, answered a few commonplace questions.

"Do you fellows want to walk

MINE CAVEIN KILLS THREE Bodies Mangled; 2 Rescued

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., April 23. (AP)—The secret of what caused three miners to meet a horrible death deep in the earth near here rested today with two others who were recovering from injuries suffered when the cage jammed in the main shaft of the American Eagles gold diggings.

Only one of the three bodies had been recovered, and Coroner A. C. Denman said it was so badly mangled he would have to delay its identification until the other two could be found and brought to the surface.

Those killed were Joseph A. Hedman, Adrian Marshall and Newton Taylor, all about 50 and residents of this section.

Francis Fisher, about 24, and "Slim" Hartwell, 30, were not seriously injured, but hospital attendants said they were "unstrung" by the gruesome tragedy and would not be questioned until their nerves quieted.

DEATH CLAIMS BREA LEADER

Edward M. (Shorty) McDonald, 51, World war veteran and prominent in civic affairs at Brea, passed away yesterday afternoon at the Sawtelle hospital. Funeral services will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. in the chapel at Sawtelle Soldiers Home.

E. L. Struble, chef de gare of the Orange voiture Forty and Eight, of which Mr. McDonald was secretary for many years, will lead a delegation of members of this organization who will attend the services.

For many years Mr. McDonald was secretary of the Brea chamber of commerce. His other civic work included service as secretary of the Brea Red Cross, Community Chest and school board. He formerly was city clerk of Brea. For many years he was adjutant of the Brea American Legion post.

During the World war, Mr. McDonald was in the coast artillery. He was born at Clyde, Kan. For nine years he lived in Colorado before coming to San Diego in 1905 and later to Orange county.

He is survived by a brother, Percy W. McDonald, San Diego; a sister, Mrs. F. H. Patton, Flagstaff, Ariz., and a niece, Mrs. M. J. Meacham, San Diego.

DUST STORM RAGES

HUGOTON, Kas., April 23. (AP)—A severe dust storm raged over southwestern Kansas today. Visibility at times was limited to 100 feet.

There are 2,000 prisoners in the Kansas state penitentiary at Lansing.

up?" one of the rescue crew asked, jokingly.

"Now boys, take it easy," Scadding replied.

"I think I can undertake it myself," Dr. Robertson said with a smile.

The rescuers did not wait to explore the men's underground prison after they broke through.

They went directly to the two living men, lying prostrate about 20 feet away from the body of Magill—the spot where the body had been since Magill died, and from which Dr. Robertson and Scadding kept their faces turned.

Immediately after the draegermen broke through, Dr. F. R. Davis, Nova Scotia minister of health, followed and examined the two survivors.

Seven Days 'In Dark'

They had been without any food, light or water—even without knowledge that rescue was on the way—from Easter Sunday until early last Saturday morning when a diamond drill bored a hole from the surface to their prison.

After receiving food and supplies Sunday, they had been prevented by rising water from approaching the tube again to gain nourishment, although they were still able to conduct one-way conversations to the surface, until they were rescued.

Magill, already ill with a cold when he entered the mine with his partner and his timekeeper, succumbed apparently to undernourishment and exposure.

The faces of both survivors were drawn, lined and covered with heavy growths of beard. Starved, they were pumpled lighter than when their ordeal started.

Donates Own Shirt

After the health minister attended to their immediate needs, the two men started the long, difficult ascent to the surface, freedom and life.

One of the rescue workers, Morrell, took off his own shirt and placed it about Scadding's shoulders.

The return to the surface was made in remarkably swift time, despite the hazards of the narrow, tortuous passageway through which the men had to be escorted.

The miners, after days and nights of setback and disappointment, broke through at 12:15 a. m. It was exactly one minute less than half an hour later when Dr. Robertson emerged from the mine, although it had been anticipated that several hours would be required for the ascent.

The imprisoned men passed 10 days, one hour and 15 minutes within the broken mine level before rescue came.

The accident occurred as the men started up from the 1900 foot level yesterday to be replaced by the night crew.

The rescuers, led by Dr. Denman, found the two injured men near the crushed cage and also located the torso of one body. It was so badly mangled it had to be carried to the surface in a box.

Dr. Denman said he located parts of the other bodies but he expected water would have to be pumped from a 50-foot sump at the bottom of the 2100 foot shaft before they could be recovered.

Indications pointed, officials said, to the cage having several large steel drills in it along with the men. This, they said, was in violation of strict regulations at the mine against carrying the drills in the cage.

Apparently, the drills had jammed against a side of the shaft as the cage was being drawn to the surface, and had crushed the men.

MORE ABOUT PRISON SITE

is within 100 yards of either prison, he is not aware that he is approaching a penitentiary.

This makes an ideal location, he explained. There are plenty of places in Southern California where similar sites could be found, said Mr. Riggie, instead of a location like that considered near Costa Mesa, where the prison buildings will be in full view from all sides.

Costa Mesa will be liable to be called the "jail bird town" if a penitentiary is located there, it was predicted today by A. B. Green of Long Beach, who was born and reared at San Rafael, near San Quentin, and who now is a Costa Mesa property owner. Mr. Greene's warning was contained in a letter to Dr. Huston.

"San Rafael Held Back"

"The town of San Rafael undoubtedly has been held back by proximity to San Quentin," the letter said. "People just don't care to live anywhere near a state prison. San Rafael was a small town 75 years ago. It is still a small town. It just doesn't grow, although, as I said before, it is one of the most beautiful towns as far as natural beauty is concerned."

Having been born and reared at San Rafael, three miles from San Quentin, Mr. Green is able to present personal knowledge of the conditions of which he speaks, his letter said.

"As far as any help whatever accruing to the town of Costa Mesa by reason of a prison locating in its district, there will be none," the letter went on to say. "The damage will be permanent, lasting and unchangeable."

Calls It 'Calamity'

"It is very expressive to say that should this calamity (and it would be a calamity) occur, a good and sizeable wet blanket would be thrown over your community as far as any further development is concerned."

"Costa Mesa will be liable to be called the jail bird town, and when you tell people in the outside world that you live in Costa Mesa, don't be surprised if they ask you how long you have been in."

"In my opinion no credence whatever may be given to communications from chambers of commerce from prison towns to the effect they are a good thing or even partially a good thing. You people must remember that they have the prisons. They can't get rid of them and you can't blame them if they make the best of a bad situation."

EDUCATOR TO SPEAK

Santa Ana women's organizations and individuals interested in vocational guidance for girls will be addressed this evening by Miss Margaret E. Bennett, Pasadena educator, at 8 o'clock in the Rossmore cafe.

The speaker is being sponsored by Altrusa club, which will hold sessions for all committees at 6:45 o'clock at the cafe, preceding Miss Bennett's talk. Miss Mary Howard is in charge of the program, arranged with cooperation of the Y. W. C. A.

APPEALS FROM RULING

J. A. Wright appealed in superior court today from a Santa Ana justice court decision against him for $806.50, made a month ago.

Mr. Wright was sued in justice court by F. C. Muller for $794.50, which was a claim assigned to him by his brother, A. R. Muller. The claim was for a 15 per cent commission on the rental of certain machinery and welding equipment. The case is being heard before Superior Judge G. K. Seovel.

TO SET CITRUS POLICY FRIDAY

Further procedure in regard to marketing regulations and shipping restrictions of intra-state citrus will be outlined tomorrow in Los Angeles, at the regular meeting of the growers advisory committee, District Attorney W. F. Menton said today.

It also is planned to reach a decision tomorrow relative to possible plans for appealing from the decision of Superior Judge James L. Allen last week on the Withers case, knocking out the California agricultural administration.

It is not known at this time whether an appeal will be made to the state supreme court, Mr. Menton said. At one time members of the growers committee had planned to attempt administration of virtually the same regulations under authority of the state supreme act.

In all probability, however, Judge Allen's decision will be appealed. LeRoy Lyon, member of the committee from Orange county, said last week.

SIGN FRUIT FOR BY-PRODUCTS

More than 85 per cent of the 1936 tonnage of the California Fruit Growers Exchange has been signed up in favor of the orange by-products fruit agreement, according to information made public by the exchange today. Only 95 per cent is required to put the agreement into operation.

The agreement has been formulated to bring about better handling and disposition of all oranges not sold for fresh fruit consumption, the exchange said. It was formulated by the juice-canning committee and executive committee of the Exchange Orange Products company board and special orange committee of the exchange board, along with the management of both these groups.

MORE ABOUT ETHIOPIA

scuth of Dessye and bombed them, with heavy losses.

Fog Blocks Attack

The planes continued on southward and attacked another group of about 1000 of the Negus' soldiers.

The dispatches declared the Italian planes were making every effort to keep the Ethiopians from breaking up the road which leads to the capital but heavy mists and fog were affording some cover for the defending troops.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio's victorious northern army was launched from its headquarters at Dessye on what appeared to be the last leg of its long drive from the Eritrean border to the heart of Ethiopia.

Marshal Badoglio telegraphed his government as follows: "On the Somali front, the Lybian division is continuing its advance. Enemy groups along the caravan trail of El Fud vainly tried to escape our pursuit."

"A column commanded by General Verne captured a caravan of 600 camels conveying supplies for the troops of Dedjasmach Abbede Damto. They captured also armored cars and considerable sanitary material."

Equatorial rains have failed to halt Marshal Badoglio's "hell on wheels" column despite months of optimistic Ethiopian predictions to the contrary.

In the northwest, General Starace's column of blackshirts held Lake Tana, the source of the Blue Nile, in the heart of a vast cultivated territory.

The issued orders that Ethiopian warriors who returned to their work immediately would be pardoned, and assured the civilian population peace would be perfected.

At home the Italians believed the war to be about over.

For every dollar paid out in taxes in Chicago in 1934 32.4 cents was spent for education.

QUICK TRIP BY CLUB SPEAKER

Dudley M. Steele, head of the Richfield Oil company's division of aviation, hates to be late for a speaking engagement. He had promised to be in Santa Ana at noon Wednesday to speak to the Kiwanis club. At a little before 10 a. m. Wednesday, Mr. Steele was still in San Francisco.

Mr. Steele, anxious to be on time for his speaking engagement, left San Francisco in his plane at 10 a. m., arrived in Santa Ana shortly after noon, and was at James cafe in time to eat lunch before his scheduled address at 1 p. m. He was brought from the Eddie Martin airport by Jerry Hall, program chairman.

His address, based on the development of commercial aviation in the United States, was filled with interesting facts concerning modern aviation.

In 1928 commercial aviation got its real start," Mr. Steele said. "Commercial lines that year flew approximately 29,000 miles per day. Last year the average mileage covered by commercial lines was over 75,000. During that first year of passenger transportation there were some 49,700 passengers carried, and many of them had to get out of planes in bad weather and complete their trips by train. Last year there were 862,000 passengers carried by the 29 airlines now in operation in the United States. I predict that during 1936 the total number of persons using the airways will pass a million."

One of the most important factors in any type of transportation is safety, Mr. Steele said. Last year, there were 20,700,000 passenger miles flown for each fatality.

FLINT TO TALK ON RUSSIA FRIDAY

A description of Russia by Dean of Men Calvin Flint of Santa Ana Junior college will feature the monthly meeting of the Service club of the Advent Christian church of Tustin Friday evening. It was announced today.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates MRS. ALICE PETERSON, Santa Ana.

F. A. BAKER, Santa Ana. And yesterday, ERNEST HEINZE, Garden Grove.

GIRL ADMITS THEFT CHARGE

Helen B. Meyers, 19, Long Beach, yesterday pleaded guilty to charges of petty theft in Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison's court, following her arrest in Long Beach for Santa Ana police. Miss Meyers assertedly stole some clothing from Miss Esther Smith, 1046, West First street, Santa Ana, last Feb. 20.

The stolen wearing apparel was placed in a suitcase and shipped to the girl's home in the East, where it was recovered by police. Yesterday she visited the Long Beach district attorney's office for the purpose of swearing out a complaint against a Long Beach man. She was recognized as the girl wanted in Santa Ana for petty theft, and was arrested.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SEEMS as if a person's named Margaret and is looking for a place to live, she moves to Huntington Beach.

At least, that's the report from Sam "Directory" Dawson, who covers the county compiling directories, from the Beach city. Sam says that there are 40 "Margarets" in Huntington Beach. Also lots of Marthas.

There's one "Queen," a "Doll," one "Dove" and a "Hope," but there are neither "Faith" nor "Charity," it was reported.

As could be expected, the Smiths take the lead in number of surnames, with 18 registered in the community, although the Wilsons are nearly as popular, trailing close behind with only two less. Also high in ranking are members of the Williams family, with 14, 10 Jones and a light following of eight Joneses, the directory man reports.

Expected to see consternation at the Coast association meeting Tuesday at Seal Beach because the appellate court had declared the fishing reserve on the county coast unconstitutional.

But there wasn't any consternation. Only determination. Immediately upon hearing of the reverse decision, members started to work figuring up methods of getting the reserve back so that sports fishermen can be protected.

They admit it's going to be a big job. Last time everyone was surprised that the measure went over in the fashion it did—perhaps, someone has suggested, certain of the commercial interests were asleep. But this time they're going to be very much awake, and excitement in great gobs is predicted.

From what some of the Coasters said Tuesday, it's going to take the influence of every sport fisherman in the state to put the reserve back where it belongs. So, if you're an angler, get ready for action!

Leslie Kimmel, Laguna Beach, who knows as much as anyone else about the fishing reserve, wants sportsmen to remember that such agencies as the Coast association and the California Game and Fish Development association aren't working to harm the commercial angler. The fishing industry, one of the greatest in the state, needs protection, too, he points out.

But sportsmen have become vitally interested in the reserve, after seeing many arrests by the patrol boat "Broadbill" in the past few months, when they assertedly caught purse-seiners operating within the reserve. Lots of folks, since then, have realized worth of the proposition, when they realize the huge amounts of sardines and other bait fish removed from along the coastline. It's easy to see what such wholesale slaughter doesn't to the larger fish—if there isn't bait, there won't be any large fish!

However, solution of the problem is in good hands. More power to the Coast association!

Chuckles at Judge D. J. Dodge, from Costa Mesa.

Judge Dodge attended the Coast meeting and was telling how, Tuesday morning, he had to turn $1,100 in bail bond money back to commercial anglers arrested for fishing in the preserve. Word also came from Laguna Beach that Judge C. C. Cravath turned back $2,100 to the boatmen.

The appellate court's action also makes us wonder about a thing or two—how about the salt water fisherman's angling license now? Will they attempt to enforce that law? At a glance, it would seem that, in this county at least, there would be less cause for collecting the license.

However, even if the "Broadbill" isn't patrolling for purse-seiners, she'll be at work protecting the lobsters and doing lots of routine duties. And research work, for which the commercial men have been paying thus far, will go right ahead in the bureau of natural resources.

Also seen at the Coast meeting: President Elmer Hughes, ex-horse shoe pitcher, as an expert "gaveller," too. When Elmer raps, everyone pays attention! He also gained distinction during the municipal elections, being the only re-elected mayor along the coastline.

Also, Bill Gallier, Huntington Beach, telling of pink lemonade promised in the goodwill tour of the Coasters next week. And of bathing girls. Tom Talbert, asking questions. Harry Welch, Newport, is one secretary we've heard about who gets applause after he reads minutes of the last meeting. Women at Seal Beach serve a good meal.

Section of Club Meets at Orange

ORANGE.—Members of the third home economics section of the Woman's club met for a 12:30 pot-luck luncheon Tuesday in the clubhouse, and afterward spent the afternoon playing bridge. Mrs. G. L. Niles presided at a short business meeting.

Guests were Mrs. William Darrick, Whittier, and Mrs. H. A. Coburn. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Rex Shannon, Mrs. C. E. Short and Mrs. Coburn.

END OF WATER LITIGATION WILL BE SOUGHT TONIGHT

IRVINE SUIT SETTLEMENT IS PLAN

County Groups to Meet In Santa Ana to Seek Cooperation

Another step toward settlement of the water litigation brought against upper county interests on the Santa Ana river by James Irvine, is scheduled for tonight. Orange county water groups will meet at 6:30 p. m. in James cafe in an attempt to agree on their position in regard to settlement of the lawsuit.

Mr. Irvine filed the suit in federal court to prevent increase in water spreading operations on the upper river and to determine the legal rights of various users of river water.

For some time the Orange county water district has been attempting to arbitrate the case. Tonight's conference will be attended by representatives of the county water district, Water, Incorporated, which is a group of independent pumpers, Anaheim Union Water company, Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company and the water committee of the farm bureau.

Some time ago the upper county groups sent down a statement as to the amount of water to which they believe they are entitled. No definite action has been taken so far by the local groups, it is expected that after the Orange county position is worked out, a conference may be held at which an attempt will be made to agree upon a settlement.

County Woman Dies in Honolulu

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Word was received here by cable Tuesday of the death of Mrs. V. K. Bathgate in Honolulu.

Mrs. Bathgate, whose home is in Villa Park, is the mother of Mrs. Guy Williams, William Bathgate and S. M. Bathgate, San Juan Capistrano.

A party consisting of Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Bathgate and Mrs. Bathgate sailed ten days ago for the Hawaiian Islands. The party will leave Honolulu for their home here immediately. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Star Group Forms Grove Chapter

GARDEN GROVE.—Past Matrons of the Garden Grove chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, meeting informally for many months, decided to become a regular club with officers when they met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Mae L. Henry. Mrs. Mae B. Pearson, the first matron of the chapter, was chosen as president of the club with Mrs. Ethel Schauer secretary.

Present were Mesdames Fessie Day, Ann Haster, Luella Franks, Emma Kearns, Ethel Schauer, Mabel Doig, Mae Pearson and Minnie Johnson.

Rabbit Breeders Plan Picnic

GARDEN GROVE.—Plans for the annual Orange County Rabbit Breeders' association picnic in July were made at a meeting of the organization in the American Legion hall here Tuesday evening.

Also a feature of the meeting was presentation of a history of the checkerboard by Mrs. Hazel Reach and showing of points on live rabbits by Frank Davies, Orange. Sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. H. S. Drake and Mrs. R. C. Fisher.

OCEANVIEW FAMILY VISITS IN LOS ANGELES

OCEANVIEW.—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stinson and Naomi and Jimmie Stinson were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stinson, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Vernon Altie in Southgate. Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Stinson accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Marion Spear attended a Townsend program in Los Angeles.

Ramona Stars Repeat Triumphs

Jean Inness and Victor Jory again left lucrative stage and screen work to perform a labor of love in the portrayals of Ramona and Alessandro in the San Jacinto-Hemet presentation of the Ramona Pageant last Saturday and Sunday. There will be four more performances of the outdoor play on the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday April 25-26 and May 2 and 3.

MEETING HELD BY G. G. GUILD

GARDEN GROVE.—Miss Clara Carmichael, Mrs. Goldie Stuck and Mrs. Gladys Prior were hostesses at a supper meeting of the Esther Guild at the First Methodist church Monday evening. Mrs. Irene Reafsnider led devotions and during the business session $42 was voted to missionary work in various fields. For the program the group joined their members of the church for the showing of the motion picture, "The Silent Enemy."

Guests of the group were Mrs. D. Applebury, Mrs. Clara Schumacher and Dorothy Schneider. Other members attending were Mesdames Anabel Bryan, Hilda Reafsnider, Marguerite Mitchell, Louise Moore, Francis Goddard, Ramah Emley, Marguerite Schneider, Phyllis Schreff, Ruth Hall, Vivian Smith, Laura Smith, Helen Holt, Mary Bradley, Winifred German, Lucy Jensen, Gladys Lamb, Laura Sprinkle, Mabel Chaffee, Mildred Johnson, Niota Sparks, Misses Madeleine Conover, Velda Barnes, Mabel Head, Marcia Carmichael, Marcella Turner and Helen Knox.

MOVE DREDGER AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—The five Standard Dredging Co.'s clam-shell dredger has just completed removing approximately 85,000 yards of rock, sand and boulders from the bay near the Fred E. Lewis home, has moved to a new location. Final work on the harbor is expected to be completed by June 1, according to J. H. Raub, United States engineer, who is in charge of the finishing-up job.

The dredger is now located north of Lido Isle, where approximately 35,000 yards of composite material will be taken from the bottom of the bay, which work is additional to the $2,000,000 harbor project.

Silver Acres Club to Meet

SILVER ACRES.—The Pioneer Boys' club will meet with their leader, "Pop" Anderson, at the Community church this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Press Stroud entertained their son, Brooks Stroud, McKittick, over the week-end. Other recent guests in the Stroud home were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Grafton.

Mrs. Gladys Wilcox is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilcox in Glendale and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Selby, Los Angeles, this week.

Mrs. Kena Miller, Detroit, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Trudeau, spent Sunday with friends in Long Beach.

School Children Visit Battleship

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Children of the Mission school were recent visitors aboard the U. S. S. Colorado, in San Pedro harbor. They were guests of the ship's chaplain, Lieut. Mehl.

and were accompanied by the Sisters of Mission San Juan Capistrano.

The guests of the ship's crew were served to the visitors in the officers' ward room after the inspection tour.

HEMET.—In its outdoor setting of natural beauty, the Ramona Bowl, situated in the Hemet-San Jacinto valley and overshadowed by snow-capped Mt. San Jacinto, the famous characters of Helen Hunt Jackson's immortal romance, "Ramona," lived again last Saturday and Sunday afternoons in the thirteenth annual presentation of the Ramona pageant.

Staged before the largest attendance of any week-end in its history, "Ramona," graphically presented a page from California's romantic past that lingers as a lasting benediction long after time has dimmed the grim tragedy that stalked the lives of Ramona and Alessandro.

The Ramona pageant does not depend on theatricality for its effects. Its stage setting is simple—the towering hillsides its sound-board, the setting sun its curtain and the Camulos ranch house the background for its principal action. The acting of Jean Inness as Ramona and Victor Jory as Alessandro could not be improved upon, according to the standing opinion of the audience. Outstanding portrayals also were given by Janet Scott, John Marlowe, Franke C. Schott, Frank D. Felt and Harriet Jones.

There will be four more performances of the Ramona pageant on the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday, April 25-26 and May 2 and 3.

MESA OIL WELL CHANGE TOLD

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—The five Snow brothers, who formed the Commander Oil Co. and were drilling the Mesa No. 1 well on the bluff above Coast highway, have sold out their interests to another company.

The new operating group, the Mesa Oil Co., is preparing to cement the hole, depth of which has not been made public. It is reported in oil circles that the new operator is a subsidiary of the Honolulu Co.

Church Aid Has Friendship Day

ORANGE.—Friendship Day, a quarterly event of the Methodist church general aid society, was held in the Trabuco canyon home of Mrs. W. H. Erwin all day Tuesday. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Claudia Bowyer, and a committee from circle three of the aid. Mrs. Mina Swenson is president.

A surprise feature was the presentation of a large birthday cake to Mrs. Russell Kanyon, general aid president, whose birthday was Tuesday. Entertainment consisted of an amateur hour, with the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Ellen Bauer, as "Miss Dogfennel" sang an original song; Mrs. Pauline Helmick as "Miss Lotta Gab" gave an original reading; Miss Carol Mae Larson as "Miss Detour" furnished piano music; Mrs. Ruth Alden as "Prissy Percival" put on a dramatic act; and Mrs. Arthur T. Hobson as "Miss Lucille Lovell" gave a romantic sketch.

A "Balance the Budget Banquet" was announced for Friday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Epworth hall of the church. Mrs. J. E. Green is in charge of reservations.

Plan Program At Oceanview

OCEANVIEW.—"The Silent Enemy," a moving picture of life among the American Indians, will be the feature of an educational program to be presented this evening in the school auditorium. The event is sponsored by the Boy Scouts.

START WORK ON SEWAGE PLANT

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Work will be started immediately on a PWA project for a sewage plant in the local sanitary district, situated about a mile south of town, it has been announced here.

According to D. P. Morgan, superintendent of the plant, nearly $1,000 of PWA funds has been allotted the district for building a concrete fence around the sewage plant. Mr. Morgan said that local labor will be used in this work. William A. Ayer, San Clemente, will be the engineer in charge of construction.

Coming with the announcement of the PWA project for the district, was that a reduction in water rates in this community became effective with bills of March 28.

The new rate for water here as compared with the old rate is new rate 500 cubic feet or less $1.25, against the old rate of $2; 1,000 feet, new rate $2.10, against old rate of $2.34; 2,000 feet, new rate $3.80, against old rate of $4.04.

G. G. ORATORY WINNER TOLD

GARDEN GROVE.—Silver medals were awarded in an oratorical contest staged by the W. C. T. U. at the Lincoln school last week, with Lamar Johnston of the fourth grade winning for his selection, "The Worth of a Boy," and Leland M. Harper of the fifth grade on the subject of "Two Boys and a Cigarette."

Other contestants from the fourth grade were Elma Jean Schreff, Ella May Rogers, Betty Lou Noble, Veda Minor, Barbara Eggleton and from the fifth grade, Aelene Johnson, Alice Imamoto, Betty Ruth Roderick, Marion Engen, Violet Critten and Frances Kester. Judges were Mrs. C. C. Violet, Miss Mabel Head and Miss Frances Hummerton.

Also included on the program were piano solos by Gerald Wasson, Alice Imamoto and Elma Jean Schreff. Also a song, "Katrina," by Dorothy Schneider and Carol German, dressed in Dutch costume.

P.T.A. PROGRAM AT G. G. TOLD

GARDEN GROVE.—With 175 high school students taking part, a benefit program for the high school P.T.A. scholarship fund will be presented in the high school auditorium Friday evening at 8 p. m.

The program will include an amateur radio program by the senior class; a farce on "Midsummer Night's Dream," by the junior class; a skit depicting a boy's dream by sophomores and readings and musical numbers by the freshmen.

GARDEN GROVE.—Motion pictures of consumers cooperatives throughout Sweden, Finland, Norway, England, as well as those in operation in the United States, were shown in connection with an educational meeting which was held Wednesday evening in the Washington Grammar school auditorium.

Much interest is being shown in these meetings, which have been conducted by Edward Totten, from the state board of education, and which have been held the past three weeks in the Civic clubhouse.

Classes in sewing, typing, book-keeping and voice have been formed, the sewing class being held in the Legion hall each Monday and Thursday at 3:30 p. m. The other classes being held in the high school, with the vocal class on Wednesday evening, typing Tuesday evening, and bookkeeping Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Teachers are furnished by the county board of education.

Classes in cooking, instrumental music, agriculture and mechanics will be started as soon as a sufficient number of pupils can be enrolled. Anyone wishing to join these classes may enroll at the class or at the office of the cooperative association, 126 East Garden Grove boulevard.

Wedding of Orange Pair Told

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson (Pauline See) have established their home in an apartment on North Glassell street, following their marriage Saturday evening in the home of Judge A. W. Swayze, North Cambridge street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil See, West Chapman avenue, and the bridegroom the son of Mrs. Laura Johnson, 144 South Citrus street. The bride graduated in 1934 from Orange high school.

HONOR BLOOD DONOR

ISTANBUL, Apr.—For donating blood to wounded in an epidemic over a period of five years, a man named Hakki is to receive a medal from municipal authorities. He accepts no remuneration and is credited with having saved 146 lives.

Finley Explains Plan for County MWD Water Use

ORANGE.—Speaking on the relation of the Metropolitan Water district to the Orange county, Colonel S. H. Finley gave some of the advantages to the county should it join the district as a whole when he appeared before the West Orange Farm Center Tuesday night.

After discussing the aqueduct system in general, he said that the cost of bringing the water to the county for irrigation purposes from Cajalco reservoir through a 12-foot tunnel to Black Star canyon would be $10,000,000.

The line would be the same size as that which supplies Los Angeles and Pasadena, and would pass through the Santa Ana mountains to Black Star canyon, he said. The elevation is 400 feet higher than the top of Santiago dam, and would permit the water to flow into the upper end of the Aliso watershed, across San Juan canyon to the southern county line, he added.

Although it may be autumn before any definite vote is taken on the matter, something must be decided within the next few months, he said, relative to the county as a whole entering the district.

Louis Walker, vice president, presided. A meeting of the county poultry department was announced for Thursday night in the Farm Bureau offices in Santa Ana. A pot-luck supper was served preceding the meeting, and music was furnished by the Texas Boys, a local group.

G. G. Dinner and Program to Observe School Week

G. G. Student Is Wed in Nevada

GARDEN GROVE.—Wedding rites were read Saturday morning in Las Vegas for Miss Blanche Gaskill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gaskill of Garden Grove and Donald Vance, son of Mrs. Edith Truelsen of Hemet, it has been announced here. Judge William Orr of the eighth district court read the service.

Attending the bridal couple were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kenney of Hemet. The bride has been married two years being attending Santa Ana Junior college. Her husband, a graduate of Riverside Junior college, later attended University of California at Berkeley and until recently was on the editorial staff of the Hemet News. He is now associated with the Kellogg Supply company in Garden Grove.

GARDEN GROVE.—A dinner and program in observance of "Public Schools Week," sponsored by the Garden Grove Masonic lodge, has been arranged for next Monday evening at the Garden Grove Union High school. Other organizations are cooperating. In charge of arrangements for the lodge are L. L. Trickey, chairman; L. L. Doig, Norman Bryan and Grant Ferguson.

The affair will open with a pot-luck supper in the school gymnasium at 6:30 o'clock. Coffee, rolls and butter will be furnished and those attending have been requested to bring their own table service, a hot meat dish, salad or vegetable dish as other arrangements have been made for the desert course.

The program, featuring students in the various schools, will open in the school auditorium at 8 p. m. with L. L. Doig, high school principal, presiding. Included will be numbers by the Washington school

LIONS HEAR ADDRESS ON FISHING

R. G. Miller, Huntington Beach, Is Speaker at Orange Meeting

ORANGE.—R. G. Miller, Huntington Beach, expert trout fly-maker, spoke at the Lions club Wednesday, exhibiting many examples of his work, both the finished product and the raw materials from which his flies are made. Jack Lampert was program chairman, and introduced the speaker, Frank Nuslein, vice president of the local Isak Walton league, was a guest.

Mr. Miller said proper equipment means much toward success in trout fishing. He recommended that fishermen study the habits of the insects the fish feed on, as well as habits and characteristics of the fish. He said that overcast and gray skies, low waves with streaky under water was the best condition for fishing.

The qualities needed to be a good trout fisher he summed up as patience, knowledge of trout water, knowledge of the species of trout, knowledge of a trout's anatomy and physical organs, knowledge of the habits of trout under different conditions, and natural food of different species and where found.

He also displayed rods and gave the various points of excellence of each. He has 330 regular customers, mostly guides for the most part living in Canada and Alaska, he said.

sixth grade glee club, selections from the May festival to be given by students of the Lincoln school, a typing demonstration by high school students and three numbers by the high school girls' glee club.

Golden Rain by Margaret Widdemer

SYNOPSIS: Ever since Iris Lanning has been attached to her Aunt Phina's glittering train in New York she has been pursued subtly by Allan Beckley, a very important family. She has just left a party at the house of Allan's very impressive grandmother, ostensibly to drive to a roadhouse with a few of the guests. But the Beckley car has had trouble. They have arrived at a rather shabby roadhouse all right, but none of the others in the party is there.

Chapter 31
FRIGHTENED
They lingered over the food. Still none of the others came.

"Tell me the time!" Iris demanded.

He held out his wrist to her. "Four o'clock."

"I think so. It's an accurate watch."

"For in the morning—three hours from home—the others lost—and the car broken down; Aren't you going to do anything?"

"What," inquired Allan rather amusedly, "do you suggest?"

Something faintly mocking in his tone puzzled her, but she was too intent to take much notice.

"I'd better telephone Aunt Phina."

He shrugged. "At four? Why of course, if you like. You're a delightful child, but you do remind me a little of the actor who blacked himself all over to play Othello. However, here's some for disturbing her beauty-sleep."

She went off, nevertheless, and remembered, only after various vain efforts that Phina disconnected the phone with a pressed button after twelve. She came back, a little disconcerted.

"What you need," said Allan, "is some rest. Run along upstairs, the woman will show you. Give 'em a half hour before turning in the general alarm!"

She followed the roadhouse keeper's wife, a heavy, amiable, over-familiar young woman in bright blue silk, up narrow brightly-varnished worn stairs to a neat rather shabby bedroom.

She turned to the broad old-fashioned sagging bed in the corner and was asleep before she knew it.

She awoke with a cry of fright. A door behind her was open. Light streamed from it; a man stood above her in his shirt-sleeves. She sprang up, full of horror. What

SAFETY IDEAS TO BE TOLD ON KVOE

A half-hour panel discussion of the traffic safety program by Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California highway patrol; Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools; Miss June Arnold, dramatic instructor; George Fairies, traffic statistician; and W. W. Wieman, principal of Lathrop Evening High school who will conduct the broadcast, will be scheduled from KVOE this evening at 5:30 o'clock.

Two-minute discussions by each will include proposed answers to the problem, such as more and more strict traffic laws, more strict law enforcement, better automobiles and equipment, cancellation of drivers' licenses, greater publicity of the seriousness of the problem and publicity of traffic law offenders, education of the driving public, mechanical and human limits.

New Series Due
A new series of broadcasts, especially for the ladies of Orange county, will be inaugurated tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from KVOE when Beula Lippold, stylist, commentator, historian and authority on things feminine, will be presented. The broadcasts will be called "Journalettes" and will team with topics of special interest to women.

Strange facts about cosmetics, their use thousands of years ago and the extent to which the ladies of Pharo's time went to make themselves more alluring by the use of surprising concoctions, will be but one of the many interesting features of the first broadcast. Program officials stated that Beula Lippold's pleasing personality, her gracious manner of speech and the excellent and practical ideas she will have will bring her a warm welcome into the homes of Orange county residents by means of their radios. She will be heard every Tuesday and Friday at the same hour.

Spanish Feature
A new feature of Spanish-speaking residents of Southern California will be inaugurated with tonight's Spanish program on KVOE at 9 o'clock with the presentation of the first of a new series of half-hour programs entitled "Programa Progresista Commercial" (Program of Commercial Progress) to be scheduled every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at the same hour, it was announced by Senor Enrique Laurent, conductor of the Spanish program on KVOE. Outstanding talent will be featured, to include Manuel M. Maytorena, Mexico's foremost tenor. He will be accompanied by Prof. Susano Rosas, well-known orchestra maestro. Other featured artists will include the Cisneros-Lopez string ensemble; the Trio Mexico, a well-known recording trio; Ernest Schuster, pianist; Dayton Alexander, vocalist, and Robert Anderson.

"Bringing Heaven Upon Earth: Civic Righteousness" will be the theme of tomorrow morning's "Clinic of Christian Living" program on KVOE at 9:15 o'clock to be conducted by the Rev. Joseph H. Thompson. He will take for his text "Thy Kingdom Come on Earth as it is in Heaven."

Another dramatization of interest showing how the federal government is aiding the farmer in various parts of the country in the matter of rehabilitation and

NEW PACKING HOUSE FOR ORANGE CO.
A new Sunkist lemon packing house has been announced for Orange county, the organization being the Marcy Ranch Lemon Packing house. It is the packing unit for lemons grown on the Marcy ranch and is located at Tustin. It formerly was the lemon house of the Goldenwest Citrus association.

The house is managed by George E. Marcy, president of the Goldenwest Citrus association from 1918

MISSING MAN TRAIL LEADS TO RIVER

PROSSER, Wash., April 23. (AP) The first clue in eight years in the mysterious disappearance of James Eugene Bassett, former naval officer and member of a prominent Annapolis, Md., family led police today to the bottom of the Columbia river.

Mysterious lights from behind the foothills of the Columbia, which he thought was Bassett's spirit, and the fear of being killed kept Stephen Szekfu, 59, ferry boatman, silent for eight years.

Dropped Bundle
Last week he casually told a friend he had transported a couple in a blue sports roadster across the river in the fall of 1928. And that they dumped a canvas wrapped bundle in mid-stream.

Sheriff A. M. Richter of Benton county heard of the story and questioned Szekfu.

Szekfu identified photographs of Decato Earl Mayer and Mrs. Mary Eleanor Smith, Mayer's mother, as the couple.

"They dumped a canvas-covered, rope-tied package into the river," he said. "I didn't want to see it. I never told. I don't want to be a witness. I would be killed."

Later in 1928, Szekfu said, he saw pictures of the couple in a newspaper and recognized them as the ones he carried across the river.

Both in Jail
Mayer and his mother were arrested in Oakland, Cal., with Bassett's blue roadster and watch in their possession. Mayer was convicted as a habitual criminal and is now serving a life sentence. Mrs. Smith is serving 10 years for grand larceny.

The couple, when questioned last night, denied they had ever crossed the river by ferry near here.

Police said they always believed Bassett was slain. His body was never found.

Benton county police prepared to drag the river bottoms in the hope that the bundle thrown overboard from the ferry eight years ago may have been caught by snags or rocks.

Szekfu's story of mysterious lights has been substantiated, but scientists, who have studied them, say they are similar to those caused by marsh gas at night.

Bassett was last seen Sept. 28, 1928.

MAYNARD STAR IN WESTERN

Ken Maynard, star of western films, enacts a dual role in his newest picture, "The Cattle Thief," comes to Walker's State theater Friday for a two-day engagement.

He takes the part of a mysterious rider and a stupid peddler in running down a desperado and his gang of cattle thieves. His leading lady is Geneva Mitchell, and others in the cast are Ward Bond, Roger Williams, Jim Marcus, Sheldon Lewis and Edward Cecil.

Also on the bill are a comedy, "Newly Re-Weds," a Merrie Melody cartoon, "Miss Glory," chapter No. 2 of "The Miracle Rider," starring Tom Mix, and a news-reel.

Orange Poet Writes Of California's Wild Flowers
A series of poems on California wildflowers by Robert Gardner, of Orange, starts today in The Journal. Mr. Gardner expresses the theme of the series in the following introductory verse.

WHAT DO THE FLOWERS MEAN?
My California flowers symbolize,
An array of life and love and song.
A wealth of beauty is the treasure,
And ecstasy compels my ship along.

Note: The flowers I have written about have historical significance.

MY CALIFORNIA POPPY
By Robert Gardner
I wandered where the flowers bloom,
Beneath the hill.
When I inhaled the soft perfume,
I found a thrill.

The poppies spread their sleepy doom,
About my feet.
Their beauty pacified my gloom,
With charm complete.

The Indians used to boil or roast the herb,
And lay it in the water afterward,
Where all the bitterness would wash away.

In Spring they liked to eat the tender greens.

The Spanish-Californians used the plant.
They fried the leaves in certain olive oils,
And added choice perfume from old Madrid,
To stimulate a growth and add a gloss.

Names for the POPPY: Amalapa, Dormidera, Torosa, Copa de oro.

Eschscholzia Californica . . . Leaves: Alternate; finely dissected. Flowers: Usually orange; cup shaped.

to 1934. Forest Collar is superintendent of the new Sunkist house, which is a member of the Central Orange County Citrus exchange.

250 LIONS CLUB DELEGATES CONVENE IN SANTA ANA SATURDAY

66 CLUBS WILL SEND ENVOYS TO MEETING

Annual Convention of District 4 Slated at Ebell Club

Representatives of the 66 clubs comprising group two of district four, Lions International, will hold an all-day session Saturday, when they gather in Santa Ana for their annual convention. The meetings are scheduled to commence at 9:30 a. m. in the Ebell auditorium, in the 600 block on French street. Group 2 of the fourth district includes all Lions clubs south of Santa Barbara, and according to Dr. James Workman, Santa Ana Lions club official, approximately 250 delegates are expected to attend the convocation.

The conference will be called to order by C. W. Harrison, president of the Santa Ana Lions club, with Phinnie S. Packard, San Diego, chairman of group two, presiding. Mayor Fred C. Rowland will deliver an address of welcome.

Speakers scheduled to participate in the program are L. B. Jackson, Santa Barbara; District Governor Luther L. Mack, Los Angeles; Homer C. Chaney, Santa Ana; Frank Weller, Los Angeles; Vincent Claypool, Perris; Kenneth E. Morrison, Santa Ana; Ed W. Thias, Pomona; William E. Dresser, J. Willis Mehl, John E. Bauer, Ralph Yambert, San Diego; E. M. Sundquist, Santa Ana; Elliott Rowland, Santa Ana; Jack Polski, Ojai; Stanley Brown, Pasadena; and Dr. Lynn L. Morgan, Los Angeles.

HIGH SENIORS PLAN EVENTS

"Ditching" classes May 4 will be high school seniors' first activity to celebrate their approaching graduation, Bob Wilde, class president, announced today.

The annual senior prom will be sponsored by DeMolays at the Santa Ana country club, May 29. Events of senior week also have been determined, beginning with the yearly breakfast for prospective graduates June 11; baccalaureate services, June 14; class day, June 17, terminating with commencement exercises June 18.

Committees named by President Wilde to plan these events are: Catherine Eklund, Stanley Slaback, Roy Potter, Anne Wetherell and Ruth Greenwald, announcements; Stanley Goode, Erwin Youel, Mary Lee Mayes, Mary Ellen Dudley, Billie Johnson and Kenneth Oliphant, ditch day; Jean Munro, Bill Keeton, June Clark and Catherine Cooper, class day; Mary Henderson, LaVonne Franson, Ruth Franson, Ralph Fuller, Edward Velarde, Betty West and Virginia Pritchard, senior breakfast; Gerry Gilbert, Carolyn Davis and Betty Bradley, measurement committee.

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

EMIL HURJA

(By the Associated Press)

Mention two opposing candidates to big, genteel Emil Hurja, and in two minutes he will be knee-deep in statistics proving which one will win.

That's why he has a private office at national Democratic headquarters. That's why long distance calls will buzz at his elbow as the 1936 campaign builds to a climax.

He will plot the political front while the Democratic spellbinders are out "holding that line." He does it on vote statistics he has gathered from every county in the country since 1928.

He's been classed as a wizard since he predicted the Democrats would pick up nearly 20 house seats in 1934. The party expected to lose about 75 seats, but Hurja was right.

He came to inner political councils by the unorthodox route of Texas newspapering and statistical work in New York. He has never held an elective office, but his advice is expected to influence largely the direction of the Democratic offensive.

DIVIDEND DUE AVOCADO MEN

A substantial operating "dividend" for Orange county avocado growers participating in the industry's orderly-marketing program, will be disbursed early in May, reports the Calavo Growers of California. Growers are expected to receive a total of $25,000 from this dividend by the end of the season.

This refund or dividend is being made possible by the accumulation of a sizeable operating surplus above the budgeted marketing costs for this season. It is entirely additional to the monthly marketing pool payments and revolving fund credits. All fruit harvested and marketed up to April 1 this season will receive the dividend early next month. Fruit handled later this season will also receive this 15 cents per field-box dividend, added to monthly payments on fruit harvested and marketed after March.

COOK SCHOOL OKEHD BY HUSBANDS

Big Journal Event to Take Place Three Days Next Week

"What does your husband think about cooking schools?"

Hearing one popular Santa Ana matron ask that question of a friend, a Journal reporter hovered near to catch the answer.

"He didn't used to think so much," was the candid reply, "but after I went to The Journal's school last November and kept him busy for weeks with luscious new dishes, he's been an addict. He even told me today to remember the school next week!"

Take a leaf from this woman's book and check your own. The Journal's big free public cooking school, next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, April 29 and 30 and May 1, in the comfortable Fox West Coast theater.

From 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. are the school class hours, and Mrs. Margaret S. Lackland, skilled home economist, will send her thousands of listeners home each day eager to try out the new cooking hints she's given them. The Journal has chosen its school time so you can get the children off to school, shoo your husband off toward work and have time to go to school, and even rush home to drag food out of oven and refrigerator if friend husband comes home for lunch!

The list of prizes to be given away is mounting in number daily.

H. S. HOUSE WINS IN TALKTEST

First place in the speaking contest held by Smedley chapter of Toastmaster's International at its meeting last evening at James cafe was won by Harry S. House with his talk on "Teaching Old Dogs New Tricks."

H. O. Ensign's talk on "Brush" won second place in the speaking contest. "Nomads of Today" was the subject of a talk by Henry Bosch, and Bert Lawyer spoke on "Wheat Market Futures."

T. E. McLeod, who was welcomed into the club as a new member by Walter Ferris, delivered an impromptu "Craft Talk." Arthur Woodworth presided as toastmaster, with Ernest Byrne as general critic and Robert Korff as dictionary critic.

V. C. Engberg and Dr. R. E. Buell were visitors.

MISSING GIRL IS WITH FATHER

Although Marcus Morris, Fullerton truck driver, was to appear in Montebello justice court this afternoon on the charge of stealing a car, he was accused of spiriting away from her mother in Belvedere Gardens today was reported by Los Angeles police to be safe with her father in Colorado.

Mrs. Nola Blankenbaker, Belvedere Gardens, told police that Morris had taken Elouise Blankenbaker, 14, from her home. Morris told police he had delivered a letter to the girl from her father last Friday, but had nothing to do with her leaving home.

Sheriff's officers reported today that the girl was with her father, John E. Blankenbaker, in Grand Junction, Colo.

++ County Landmarks ++ First County Railroad Reached Anaheim in 1875

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. These articles will describe their location and give historical facts concerning them. Today's article tells about the county's first railroad.)

Orange county's first railroad, while it has not been designated as a landmark, is a project of historic interest. The first railroad was the Southern Pacific, which reached Anaheim on Jan. 1, 1875, having been built from Los Angeles.

For about two years the terminus of the road remained at Anaheim. Then it was built to Santa Ana, where the terminus has remained.

Later the Southern Pacific built a branch line out of Anaheim to Villa Park, McPherson, El Modena and past Tustin to a point on the San Joaquin ranch. This line serves a number of citrus packing houses. The railroad does not go through El Modena proper, but has a station called El Modena near the packing house on the Hewes ranch southwest of El Modena. When the Los Alamitos sugar factory was built in 1896, the

Letters Continue to Pour In for Journal Carriers

Bob Blake, popular Journal carrier on route No. 28, returned this week from several weeks of sickness, determined to make a big showing in the carriers' popularity contest. His subscribers are rallying to his support, and numerous commendations are reaching The Journal office.

Another carrier who has become a threat is Clarence Kennedy, on route No. 16. With the contest well under way, some surprising upsets within the next few days are expected.

Letters from subscribers to the credit of their carriers continue to pour into the office. "I take this opportunity to thank you for your careful selection of the type of carrier boys you employ, and particularly our carrier, on route No. 35, Henry Cantu," writes Mrs. Jack W. Snow. The Russell Plumbing Company sent a letter to swell the votes of their carrier, Eugene Firshey, route No. 20, which said, "We receive perfect service and courtesy from our carrier." Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stigers write that Kenneth Langenbeck, route No. 18, always delivers the paper on the porch.

Among other letters are from

Dairymen Will Discuss Change For Ordinance

To discuss possible changes in the Orange county milk and dairy products ordinance, a meeting of Orange county dairy groups will be held at the farm bureau office here next Monday at 7:30 p. m. The meeting was announced today by Ned Clinton, chairman of the farm bureau dairy department.

"The principal business will be consideration of whether the dairy interests of the county should recommend to the board of supervisors that we adopt," said Mr. Clinton, "the ordinance now in effect in San Bernardino county, which prohibits sale of all milk products unless they come from tuberculosis-free herds," said Mr. Clinton.

WELLINGTON NEW HEAD OF COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION

Major M. B. Wellington, Santa Ana attorney, will pilot the Orange County Bar association as president during the next 12 months. Major Wellington was elected at a meeting of the organization last night at James cafe. He was first vice-president last year and succeeds Charles D. Swanner, president last year. Raymond Thompson of Fullerton was named first vice-president; Ira Kroese of Santa Ana, second vice-president; and J. B. Tucker, Santa Ana, third vice-president. George Parker, Santa Ana, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Last year Mr. Kroese was third vice-president and Mr. Thompson was second vice-president.

The executive committee is composed of these officers with Ray Overacker, Huntington Beach, and George F. Holden, Anaheim. Ralph W. Smith, Los Angeles expert on inheritance and income taxes, gave a talk on world tax problems. The program was in charge of a committee headed by O. A. Jacobs, Santa Ana.

Jaycee Students in Flurry as Dances Planned Tonight, Friday, Saturday

'Wahoo Whirl' Two Formals Scheduled

Even though the orchestra will do most of the "wahoo-ing," junior collegians will take care of the "whirling" this evening at Irvine park, at the sports dance being sponsored by Las Gitanas, junior college service group, to increase the school's student loan fund.

Elizabeth Sturtevant, Las Gitanas president, is in charge. She also heads the committee of club officers planning annual spring formal dance of the organization, to be held Saturday evening at 9 o'clock in the San Clemente Country club.

Tomorrow evening the dance tempo will swing from spirited "wide, open spaces" rhythm to more sedate ballroom music for the formal dinner dance held each spring by Moavs, jaycee girls' service club. Members and their guests and alumnae will assemble at the dinner hour at Los Ondos, Laguna.

Patrons of the affair are to be Miss Mabel G. Whiting and Miss Lucinda M. Griffith, advisers, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn, Edna Wilson and Charlotte Archley constitute the arrangement committee.

Assisting Elizabeth Sturtevant in planning Las Gitanas' formal Saturday night are Mildred Pearson, vice president of the club; Audrey McDonald, secretary, and Jean Mulber, treasurer. Murray Patton's orchestra is to furnish music.

Miss Carol Erskine and Miss Muriel Anderson, advisers, will attend, with members, guests and alumnae of the organization.

MARINE GARDEN IS SETTING OF FISH DINNER, PROGRAM

Fantastic fish "swimming" among fish nets only myriad shells gave the illusion of dining in a marine garden Tuesday evening when men of the First Baptist church were honored at annual dinner given for them by the women's society.

Two toned blue table runners were sprinkled with shell nut cups and badges for guests of honor. Blue-lined lampshades, emitting vari-colored streamers resembled sub-sea plants. A ship model decorated the piano.

"Fish and Fishers," Miss Lulu Minter's welcoming address, set the theme for the entire program following the barbeque dinner, served by girls of Mrs. R. C. Crouse's Sunday school class, dressed as sailors.

With a ship's deck, designed and built by Max Holmes, as stage, an adaptation of "Pinafore" was presented by Misses Mary Nalle and Eula L. Parker, Russell Crouse, Kember Taylor, Messrs. Crouse and Mesdames Richard Robbins and J. L. Steffensen, accompanied by Mrs. Edith Warren. Three numbers were played by the Carillon trio, Fale Spicer, Rose Marie Flint and Audrey Pieper. Mrs. Ernest C. Phillips read a group of sea poems.

In charge of arrangements were Mesdames R. C. Crouse, Lespie Pearson, Clyde Cave and J. L. Steffensen. Thanks were expressed to the Edison company for four lamps loaned, and to Miss May Rose Borum, Tustin, for the marine garden idea.

B. K. HARMANS HONORED AT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan K. Harman (Vivian Fraser) were feted at a gay shower party recently in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Harman, 1516 North flower street.

Miss Floretta Harman assisted her parents in entertaining. Prizes in card games went to Miss Norma Fraser and Mrs. Harman in bridge and to Ellis Drake and Laurel Camp in pinocle.

Mrs. Martha Starke played piano solo. Miscellaneous gifts were presented and refreshments served in the evening.

MISS GINGER KEELER ENTERTAINS CLUB

Miss Ginger Keeler entertained members of her bridge club Tuesday evening with a gay party in her home at 2101 Kilson drive.

Attractive prizes went in bridge to Misses Maxine and Nadine Ogden. The hostess served a delicious dessert. Spring flowers in tins of lavender lent a soft color note to the scene.

Other guests were Mrs. Neal Parker and Misses Beverly Weindorf, Margie Lindsey, Virginia Congdon and Bee Cleveland.

BETTY LOU VERNON CONVALESCING

Eight-year-old Betty Louise Vernon, daughter of the John J. Vernons of Santiago street, is confined at home with a double-fractured right arm.

She broke it Tuesday forenoon in a fall at the Hoover school, where she is in the third grade. After being treated at St. Joseph's hospital she returned home, where she is being a very valiant little invalid.

Grandma's petticoat is back in the 1936 fashion parade. Here it is in black and white plaid silk taffeta splashed with a bright green dot. It is worn with a light weight black wool skirt and a peplum blouse of the same taffeta.

Prizes Offered for One-act Tournament

An array of prizes for the 10th annual Southland tournament of one-act plays is attracting considerable attention in the Fourth street window of the First National bank this week.

Plans are shaping rapidly toward the tournament nights of next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights in Ebell clubhouse auditorium.

First prize is the Charles A. Riggs memorial cash award and the Emma Otis cup. This is the fourth year that Mrs. Charles A. Riggs has donated $50 for the first prize in honor of her husband, the late Charles A. Riggs, prominent Santa Ana banker. Mr. Riggs was one of the little group of four who organized the Santa Ana Players club 16 years ago. He was a member of the first board of directors, and was always a generous patron of the club.

Gold Cup Promised

The large silver cup is donated by Mrs. Emma G. Otis, who is always interested in Players' activities. Mrs. Otis presented this cup at the first tournament 10 years ago to become the permanent property of any group winning it in three out of five years.

In 1928, the York players of groups have won it for two successive years; the Claremont Community players in 1930 and 1931, and the Touchstone Drama workshop of U. S. C. in 1934 and 1935. Others who have won it for one year are the Whittier players in 1929, the Los Angeles players in 1929, the Inglewood Community players in 1932, and the Pandora players of Redondo Beach in 1933. The Touchstone Drama workshop is defending the cup this year.

The second prize is the Santa Ana cup and a $25 cash award. This cash award was established in 1934. Last year the Santa Ana Register donated this money, and is generously doing so again this year. The cup has been donated each year since the establishment of the tournament by a public-spirited Santa Ana jeweler. The donor last year was William C. Lorenz, who is giving it again this year. This year's cup is an unusually beautiful one of gold.

The second prize has been awarded a different group each year. In 1927 it was won by the Santa Monica Community Theater guild, in 1928 by the Escondido Players, in 1929 by the Sierra Madre Community players, in 1930 by the Touchstone Drama shop, in 1932 by the Beverly Hills Community players, in 1933 by the Modern Mummies of San Bernardino, in 1934 by the Glendale, and in 1935 by the Inglewood Community players.

Books to Be Given

The Julia Beaumont Cummings cup is being offered for the first time this year by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waterman, Margaret Cummings Kessler, and Julia Cummings Williams as a memorial to the late Julia Beaumont Cummings who originated the Santa Ana tournament. This cup is offered for the best comedy, and is to be a revolving cup until it is won three successive years by the same group, whose permanent property it will then become. So far there are three contestants for the cup: Laguna Beach Community players, Huntington Beach Community players and the Pasadena Drama guild of the Pasadena department of recreation.

Since 1929 books of plays have been offered by the Santa Ana Community players as prizes to the best actor and the best actress. The first year the winners were Helen Warfield Wagner of the Beverly Hills Community players, and Alan Moody of the Santa Monica Theater guild; in 1930 by Thelma Laird Schultheis of Monrovia, and James P. Blaisdell of Claremont; in 1931 by Ralph Sherman of El Monte, and Mrs. Glenn L. Box of Monrovia; in 1932 by Bert Eaton of San Bernardino, and Alma E. Morgan of Sierra Madre; in 1933 by Bert Eaton of San Bernardino, and Mary Pelham of Redondo Beach; in 1934 by Selwyn Meyers of Sierra Madre, and Mary Eliza of Huntington Beach; in 1935 by Elwood Larson of Inglewood, and Marjorie Holbrook of San Bernardino.

WEDDING OF PAIR SET FOR SUNDAY

Miss Mary Maturino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Maturino of Delhi, and Paul DeSoto, born and educated in Tucson, Ariz., will be married at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning in the Delhi Catholic church. The Rev. Origel will read the nuptial mass.

A wedding party will be given at the bride's home, 202 Central avenue, Delhi, after the marriage. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess DeSoto of Delhi.

SANTA ANANES GO TO SAN MARINO

Mrs. Quincy L. Hardy and Mrs. G. B. Curran of Santa Ana and Mrs. Curran's houseguest, Mrs. Bagley of Oklahoma, visited the Henry E. Huntington gardens at San Marino today.

They report the flowers are beautiful, the camellias especially, and the trip was a pleasant one.

GUEST AT HOTEL

Miss Marion Grant of Santa Ana was a guest at the Playa Ensenada hotel in Old Mexico this past week, where she remained for several days enjoying the delightful spring at this popular resort.

Mrs. Bishop Chosen New Leader

Mrs. Holmes Bishop was chosen new leader of the book review section of Santa Ana Valley Ebell society when it elected officers at a delightful meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. B. Sprague on Victoria drive. She will succeed Mrs. Ralph Smedley, retiring leader.

Other officers chosen were Mrs. Sprague as assistant leader and Mrs. R. C. Mixer, secretary-treasurer.

Here and there with celebrities of the World went Mrs. John Tesson as she followed the footsteps of Negley Farson in his autobiographical book, "The Way of a Transgressor." Mrs. Tesson told of Farson's 11 years as foreign correspondent for the Chicago Daily News. Her review was given in her most entertaining manner.

Mesdames Sprague, S. M. Davis, T. R. Tarwick and C. D. Hindley served tea, tiny sandwiches and cakes in the social hour, with Mrs. Earl Abbey and Mrs. Edith Cloyes presiding at a table laid with lace and centered with a bowl of pink flowering peach sprays.

Special guests for the day were Mesdames Ella Campau, W. H. Harrison and Bertha Delano McCracken, who is district chairman of art in the California Federation of Women's clubs.

WEDDING CHAPEL IS SETTING FOR TWO WEDDINGS

Santa Ana Wedding Chapel was the effective setting of two simple weddings recently. The Rev. Earl Bloss, resident minister, officiated at both ceremonies.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Miss Florence Hart of 723 North Philadelphia street and Arthur S. Williams of 113 North Emily street, Anaheim, were married. The bride's sister, Mrs. Elvia A. Greene of Anaheim, attended them. They will live in the Biltmore apartments, Anaheim.

At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening Miss La Verne Willeford, 1015 East Wilshire avenue, and Claude L. Barnes, 231 West Maple avenue, Fullerton, were married. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hindmarch of Anaheim attended them.

DE GLADE DAMER HAS HAPPY PARTY IN MEMBER'S HOME

Sometimes, everything combines to make an occasion ideally joyous. Such was the case when De Glade Damer met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Richard Niederlag, 1021 Lowell street.

A very cozy afternoon of needlework, comparing photographs taken at previous meetings, and finally an impromptu but entertaining story - telling contest brought pleasure to the guests.

The hostess served a temptingly delicious dessert course late in the day. Her guests were Mesdames Richard Grimes, Charles Kite, Henry McComb, Harrison White, Margaret Golden and Herbert Thwaite.

MRS. HOOVER TO BE CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Ralph Hoover will entertain the Wednesday bridge club at its next meeting, May 20, in her home. It was decided at the club's latest session in the home of Mrs. J. P. Cozad on North Tustin avenue.

Ices centered with miniature designs were served in the dessert course. Mesdames Worth Alexander and Arthur Smith were guests. Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. John Turton and Mrs. George Lippincott won prizes.

Others present were Mesdames Jess Wright, Ralph Mitchell, Ralph Hoover, J. F. Jacoby, Earl Lepper, Thomas Short, Raymond Courch and Leonard White.

MRS. JAMES HIRD IS RE-ELECTED

Re-elected to presidency of Franklin P. T. A., Mrs. James Hird will serve for another term, with Mrs. Noah Wilson, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Munson, secretary; Mrs. T. Crossley, treasurer; and Miss Hazel McFarland, historian.

Elections were held Tuesday afternoon at the school, following visits by mothers to classrooms. Plans were made for a card party at the school, May 15. Mesdames Everett Miller, H. Balan and Jack Munson served refreshments.

"Forget Other Girl," Husband Counsels Young Wife Re-Building Home Ties

By MARY STODDARD

Honest and frank is the statement of a man who is making a success of his marriage, writing to comfort the young woman who feels she cannot go on unless her husband will give up his "affair" with another girl.

"Just a Man" has the same inclinations that "Young Wife's" husband has—but he is not following them. Lacking common interests, he and his wife are staying together without making uphill work of it.

Dear Miss Stoddard: In answer to "Young Wife's" question in your column recently I should say that her husband does love her or he would never have come back to her and treated her so royally after his return.

Forget the other girl and make yourself as attractive to your husband as possible. Man is actually of a polygamous nature and very few women can supply all of the requirements.

Take myself for instance. I have been married for nearly 20 years and am still very much in love with my wife, yet I cannot help but notice other women.

She has retained her girlish figure and vivacity and whenever we go out in company she always has several admirers in her wake. I am quite jealous of her, although I really believe I have no occasion to be, as she is a devoted mother and apparently loves only me.

Nevertheless, when I see some other man devoting a lot of attention to her and she apparently is enjoying it, it makes me sick with jealousy, although I try not to spoil her enjoyment by assuming it. It's probably because I am conscious of the fact that I cannot fill all of her requirements. Aside from physical attraction, we really have nothing in common, as our likes and dislikes differ widely, yet we get along very well together.

There are other attractive women whose interests are very much the same as mine. If it were not for circumstances, I could enjoy their company immensely. It makes me feel like a hypocrite. At times I have the urge to throw caution to the winds and seek other companionship, especially when my wife is indifferent, but I know I should be a fool to do so.

JUST A MAN.

FRIENDS PICNIC IN CARBON CANYON

A group of Santa Anans enjoyed a delightful picnic recently at Carbon canyon and talked over old times in Missouri.

They were Mrs. Hattie C. Vandell, 215 East Chestnut avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Williams, Miss Ruth Williams and Mrs. John Williams of Lamar, Colo. The Williamses are spending the spring months at the New Washington apartments and plan to be here until June.

PARK STEAK BAKE

Students and faculty members of last semester's high school registration crew, were reunited at a steak bake in Irvine park recently. In the group were Harold Tucker, Robert Cooper, Anne Wetherill, Gerry Gilbert, Jean Russell, Margaret Wafford, Catherine Cooper, Peggy Paxton, Mr. and Mrs. John H. McCoy and Robert S. Farrar.

MRS. J. J. VERNON ENTERTAINS CLUB AT PRETTY PARTY

Roses in every lovely tint, in the bud and in full bloom of beauty, were culled from her garden and arranged in the home of Mrs. John J. Vernon on Santiago street Tuesday afternoon when she feted her bridge club at a dessert party.

Mrs. Vernon had wound deepest blue raffia into clever baskets for her roses. The two artistic centerpieces later went as special prizes in bridge to Mrs. Warren Jones and Mrs. "Bud" Johnson.

Mrs. Charles E. Flood of San Diego, mother of Mrs. George W. Palmer, a member of the club, was a luncheon guest and spent the afternoon sewing.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson and Mrs. Palmer won the usual bridge awards.

Others present were Mesdames Albert Burkett, Arch Anderson and Herbert Krahling.

WOODCRAFT THIMBLE GROUP PICNIC

Strolls through Irvine park and comfortable chats beneath its shady trees engaged members of the Neighbors of Woodcraft Thimble club Tuesday, at all-day picnic in the park.

In the party were Mesdames Florence Erthal, Clara Gaudin, Bessie Appleman and W. A. Schieff, Fullerton; Mesdames Manilla Patmor and Louise Salaets and her son, Sam Tayfill, Irvine; Mrs. Barreras and Miss Laura Broadhead, Orange Acres; Mrs. George Ferguson, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Dora Morrow, Santa Ana; and Mesdames G. T. Evans, Herman Marsor, Carl Myers, John Chapman and her daughters, Jane and Shirley, San Bernardino.

Hostesses for Garden Tea Named

With enthusiasm mounting for the Y. W. C. A.'s garden tea Saturday afternoon in the Herber Fowler home on West Santa Clara avenue, Mrs. Fred Forgy, general chairman, today announced her tea committee.

It will include Mesdames Chester Horton, F. E. Bruning, Wilbur Barr, Leland Finley and Horace Stevens and Miss Dorothy Forgy.

Mrs. H. J. Howard is taking transportation requests, and if any one wishing transportation to the garden will phone her, she will make the necessary arrangements.

Starting at the home of Miss Martha Ritchey on McFadden street, the trek will take in peeks at various fine gardens before winding up at the lovely Fowler home. Tickets may be obtained at any of the gardens, from any Y. W. member or at the Y. W. C. A. office.

D. A. V. GROUP PLANS BENEFIT AFFAIR

An extra quilt will go to disabled veterans at San Fernando hospital, as result of all-day sewing session yesterday by Jack Fisher auxiliary, D. A. V., at the home of Mrs. David R. Day, Fullerton.

Plans were made for a benefit card party at 8 p. m. April 29 at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Pickard, 530 South Van Ness. Mrs. Harry D. Edwards will arrange for contract, auction and pinocle games. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Pickard, 4524-J.

In the quilting group were Mesdames Charles Spurrier, Dean Laub, V. L. Brown, B. L. Chittenden, Olga Wood, E. L. Reford, H. O. Hensley, W. R. Alexander, H. S. Pickard, and Mrs. Margaret Hoskens and Mrs. G. W. Sherwood, Fullerton, the latter a gold star mother.

WELFARE SOCIETY

Tomorrow at 2 p. m., Welfare society of the Episcopal church of the Messiah will meet at the home of Mrs. S. P. Freeman, 1418 Durant street.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women

Would you advise a young girl to live away from home a year after graduation from school, or do you think she can gain sufficient independence at home?

Mrs. A. F. Granas: My daughters will have been away to college. I think that the training girls receive there will give them sufficient independence, and that if they work they should do so in their home town and live with their parents.

Mrs. E. C. Franson: I think that it depends both upon the girl and upon her parent. If she has the proper environment in her home, she will be able to learn independence there.

Smart Household Linens in Color

PATTERN 5348

It's Spring—and time to do a bit of "gardening." But wait!—It's linens we're going to beautify, with cotton patch flowers and flower-pots. This easy applique is sure to enhance a pair of pillow cases, scarf or dainty hand towels. Take colorful scraps, cut them into these simple flower forms, and either turn the edges under and sew them down, or finish them in outline stitch. It's called "Linen-closet Gardening!"

In pattern 5348 you will find a transfer pattern of two motifs 5 1/2 x 15 inches, two motifs 4 1/2 x 15 inches and the patterns for the applique patches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, California. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

The Forgotten Man

IN ALL the discussion of a political year, it's at least 99.8 per cent about the President, with only a rare "by-the-way" mention of the Vice President, who is technically known as the running mate. He is usually selected as an afterthought.

We think, generally speaking, that the country has been surprisingly lucky about its Vice Presidents. But we think also that the public apathy toward the vice presidency is a very grave weakness in our approach to this most important of all of our political events.

The President's job is a man-killer. It is becoming more so. Only one in robust health can "take it" for four years. The whole scheme of presidential labor is shamefully designed to wear out the victim.

Handshaking the visiting firemen, greeting the political bosses and the potentates and the distinguished visitors from the four corners of the earth, laying the cornerstones, holding formal receptions, traveling here and there and yon on hectic speechmaking tours—those things are merely incidents, on top of which must be piled the vast grueling routine that the public doesn't even see. How anybody does it is a wonder. The life expectancy under such a load must be greatly diminished by the very nature of the task—as compared with the life expectancy of the average man.

Yet, the delegates assembled in national conventions start really thinking about the vice presidency only after the tumult and the shouting of the main show have died. And the possible chief executive is just as likely as not to be some political hack selected for purely geographical reasons or as a compromise to heal a breach between contending political factions.

That we have had as presentable a lot as we have of Vice Presidents in our history is somewhat of a miracle. But we can't depend on luck—or miracles—forever.

Another great mystery of life is why mufflers aren't placed on the back-seat driver instead of on the engine.

Prison Site Primer

TODAY's true story about the Costa Mesa prison site proposal deals with the type of criminals which would be incarcerated there. Here's the question and answer:

Q. Is it true that the prison would be irrevocably restricted to "first offenders; and so would not be like a prison for murderers and hardened criminals?"

A. No, it is not true. The present legislative act merely provides as follows: "Sec. 16—It is the purpose of this act to provide for segregation from hardened criminals of offenders of a mild type, without regard to their age who, in the opinion of the board of prison directors seem capable of world rehabilitation and restoration to good citizenship." And here's the joker. There is nothing in the act to prevent the state from setting up a bastille here for the most vicious kind of criminals so long as these criminals are kept segregated from the "mild type." In fact, the very act itself looks forward to this eventuality, since it stipulates that in case hardened criminals are sent to the prison, they must be kept away from the others. This could be done by simply building a fence across the prison lot. The state could thus freely dump here thousands of criminals of all kinds from the overcrowded cells of San Quentin and Folsom. There is nothing in this prison law to prevent Orange county from becoming the home address of all the convicted murderers, bandits, and degenerates of Southern California.

Modern prisons emphasize recreation, so local insurance man suggests putting prison at the beach where the boys can enjoy swimming, yachting, and surf fishing.

Take in The Sun!

SOAK up nature's good sunshine these balmy spring days. There's nothing finer to clean the cobwebs out of the brain and the meanness out of the heart than a stroll over the brush-clad hills or the wave-dashed beach. Or try a warm spot in some secluded canyon where the sun lingers late into the afternoon. Listen to the birds and the voice of growing things.

How unimportant are our personal problems when we let them settle into the great pattern of the natural earth—while we lie with hands clasped back of head gazing into a spring sky of unbelievable blue. How simple and clean we feel as we fill our lungs with the scent of new sprouted grass and budding plants.

It is then that the realization of our kinship with nature is strongest within us, that we feel more keenly the harmony of the spirit and the outside world.

Then the sun and the wind and the lifted, growing earth are more a part of us than we realize through the other seasons of the year. In the spring we come home to elemental nature for a cleansing and a renewal.

"If there's anything wrong with the world," says Henry Ford, "it's pure laziness." You don't want people to walk, do you, Henry?

A Worthwhile Project

ONE OF the best uses to which WPA money is being put in Orange county is the improvement of Irvine park. It is good news that a $70,000 project has been approved for this unique and remarkable recreation area.

The park is fast becoming one of the most, if not the most, popular spot of the kind in Southern California. On last April 12 a total of 14,542 visitors were counted.

It is important that men and women have recreation from healthful sources. Pleasure resorts like Irvine park are of untold benefit.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Dick Berlin, magazine executive, has become one of the three most widely traveled of the American air passengers. The not so humble sort who can take off in a furthermost corner of the world and be napping before the plane reaches high altitude.

The log of his most recent journey reads like some modern imaginings. Such as: Sunday—Breakfast in Baghdad; lunch in Cairo; dinner in Athens. Berlin started out for a rest in Honolulu but continued on by boat to Sydney.

From there he took to the air, flying over Australia and on to Java. Then started to cross the shark-infested Timor Sea. Forty-five miles out motor trouble developed and they limped back for repairs. Then flew over Soemba, Lombok and Bali. Then to Batavia, Bangkok and into Rangoon.

Among experiences was flying low at dawn over Bethlehem, The Garden of Gethsemane, Nazareth, the River Jordan, the Dead sea and across the Suez Canal. He also saw from the air the temples of India, bathers in the sacred Ganges and bits of life from Jodhpur to Baluchistan through remote Persia.

The profession of astrology seems no longer one of the dubious callings ensconced in shabby brown-stones in side streets. Or patronized chiefly by tin horn gamblers, turf trout, ladies of skimpy morals and others who live lightly and for the day. The general topsy-turviness, especially the market crack-up, has made it one of the proverbial straws for a sinking world. It has followers in the highest stratum. The musty astrological parlor is now the satin-walled salon moderne lodged in exclusive spires. The late Evelyn Adams left a quarter million. Nella Webb's address is an avenue bon ton hotel. Myra Kingsley, of distinctive lineage and social impressiveness makes her engagements, ahem! for February in Palm Beach; in March, April and May, New York; and June in London.

Richard Barthelmess, whose long, distinguished stage career was followed by the inevitable lull, seems to have revised the usual formula of from stage to screen. He gave an extraordinary account of himself in a New York drama this winter, almost duplicating the achievement of his fellow movie star, Walter Huston, who suddenly found himself up against studio indifference. Barthelmess in his footling career has opened the doors of important producers.

Continuous burlesque shows no abatement in attendance, although first to open in the morning and last to close when Broadway goes dark. They have made several fortunes for backers the past few years. A sure-fire stain in patronage is composed of sailors in port. There are generally a dozen at every performance. But the burley's chief appeal is to the out-of-town visitor who wants to spice his visit with a dash of reckless adventure. He feels he is slipping his halter and will have something to tell the boys back home. Too, many actors like to take a look at the other half of the show world. John Barrymore takes in one when he comes to town. George Arliss has also attended several. And I'm told William Gillette, the old Groucho Marx calls "the old blade," looked in on one recently.

Thingamabobs: Phil Simms, European reporter, was the first dramatic critic in America to sport a white-lined Inverness. King Edward thinks no desert tops the Yankee version of Floating Island. . . Earl Carroll smoked his first cigar when 30, and they had to carry him out of a night club feet up. . . Ina Claire was once a chorus girl in the last row of the Follies. . . Claire Luce has decided to make London her permanent home and has bought a house in Sussex. . . Dorothy Knapp, once billed as the most beautiful girl in the world, is a sculptress and lives in Tudor City. . . Cobina Wright is giving singing lessons to Doris Duke Cromwell.

Sudden memory: The time you wore the first colored band on your straw hat up Main Street and the crowd in front of the hotel yelled: "O, Gertrude!"

Poetic cussing, for which Mark Twain has superb talent, has become a lost art in most sections of Manhattan, what with Twain in a happier world and Bob Davis, who is no slouch if he gets his head caught in a well, hooked by a cow or something, always gadding. But down on the water front it retains its pristine charm. I heard a group of stevedores near the French line pier in action last night. It was beautiful.

SHOP APPLIES SANCTIONS

LONDON. (AP)—In the window of one of London's largest wine stores, in Wardour street, near Piccadilly Circus, the following notice appears: "No, sir, we do not stock Italian wines. And we have no desire to do so while Italy bombs British and other Red Cross units."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Confidential reports from field agents of the new farm program have been far from encouraging. From California, for instance, came an account of a meeting of the state AAA director with county agents, to obtain first-hand information regarding the number of farmers expected to join in the soil conservation plan.

"Now men," said the director, "you know what this program is; also you have talked to the farmers. I want you each to jot down for me the number of farmers in your area that you are sure will comply."

The answers revealed that out of 170,000 California farmers eligible to participate, only 13,000 were definitely known to plan to take part in the new acreage reduction program.

THE COURT LAUGHED

The black-gowned justices of the U. S. supreme court, so solemn and forbidding on the bench, enjoy a good joke—even at the expense of one of their number.

Arguing a recent tax case before the court, Robert Jackson, able young assistant attorney general, claimed that the defendant had sought to evade the estate tax by transferring his property to relatives prior to his death.

Jackson held that the defendant's advanced years justified such a contention; that the obviously had his demise in mind when he gave away his wealth.

"But," snapped Justice McReynolds, a dour Scotsman, didn't you read the opinion of the lower court? It is shown there that this man was a hale and hearty Scotsman in his 70's."

"Yes, your honor," shot back Jackson, "that is exactly my point. He was a Scotsman. That is why I say he must have desired to transfer his fortune by making the 'gifts.'"

The entire court, including McReynolds, broke into a laughter. Note—Jackson won the case; the court agreed with his reasoning.

WILY PROSECUTOR

In the senate, chief credit for the conviction of Judge Haisan, R. Ritter is given to Sam Hobbs, a rookie congressman and former circuit judge from Alabama.

The impeachment charges against the Florida jurist were prosecuted by four members of the house judiciary committee, headed by Chairman Hutton W. Summers. Hobbs, the junior member of the "managers," as they are known officially, was the "trial lawyer."

Illustrative of the fast-thinking Alabamian's methods was the dramatic manner in which he managed to introduce as evidence certain private letters written by the impeached judge. Ritter's lawyers objected strenuously to reading the letters, but were overruled.

Hobbs then began to read one letter after another. Several paragraphs were unimportant. Senators sat back in their seats. Suddenly he stopped, stammered, finally said: "I would rather not read the next paragraph."

Ritter's lawyers leaped to their feet. The entire chamber became tense. "We demand the paragraph be read," the attorneys shouted. "We insist that if part of the letter is read, all of it should be read."

"Very well," said Hobbs, "if you insist." And then, while the entire senate listened intently, he read as follows: "I can recommend him (Ritter's former law partner) very strongly for appointment to the vacancy (a federal judgeship), for as you know he is a Hoover-Democrat . . ."

Shorts from the Democratic side were so loud they could be heard in the galleries. Among old-line Democrats, traffic with a Hoover-Democrat still is an unforgivable sin.

By his wily maneuver Hobbs had "hung" this damaging bit of evidence on Ritter while appearing to be forced to do so by Ritter's own attorneys.

TALMADGE TRICK

Gov. Gene Talmadge may yet be a delegate to the Democratic national convention, even though the buzz-saw-voiced Georgian does not have the courage to enter the presidential preference primary he was recently forced to call. This is so because of an adroit political trick.

The red gallus-wearing governor controls the Georgia state central Democratic committee, through it rules the state's election machinery. So in drafting the rules for the Georgia presidential primary, he slipped in a provision that any candidate in the state of delegates chosen to go to Philadelphia should be filled by the chairman of the central committee. Even though a complete Roosevelt ticket was elected, it would thus be possible, if a vacancy occurred, for the chairman to name an anti-New Deal substitute.

Almost invariably, last-minute vacancies do occur in delegate lists. When one does, Talmadge could have himself named to the delegation by Hugh Howell, his hand-picked subservient state chairman, and thus could go to Philadelphia even though he would court almost certain defeat if he entered the primary.

Note—Talmadge's requirement that candidates entering the primary must post a $10,000 fee is something new in American election history. If every state set up such a charge, it would cost a presidential aspirant $480,000 to enter all the primaries.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan's No. 1 Republican "dark horse," is leaning over backward to keep on good terms with the other aspirants. Asked by Senator Borah if he had read a pamphlet put out by a Hoover-controlled organization in California attacking Governor Landon, Vandenberg said: "Yes, I saw it, but I didn't read it. I'm keeping out of factional fights."

Secretary Dan Roper is casting about for a business man to fill the highly technical post of assistant census director. In the past the office has always been held by trained statisticians. But with Roper's much-touted "business census" encountering rough sledding from business men, he hopes to smooth down this resistance by naming one of them to the job. . . Radio networks are offering members of congress a unique electioneering opportunity. At the conclusion of a regular broadcast they are allowed an extra minute or two to extend a few words of personal greetings to the "folks back home." The boys on Capitol hill are very enthusiastic about the idea and are offering their speaking services to the networks in large numbers.

TURNSTILE STORES

To the Editor: In your editorial column of April 17 you mention that there is "A Fair Deal in Order." That is, not to patronize the doorbell peddlers.

Would it not be a fairer deal to do away with the "Turnstile Stores" where buyers have to become clerks and wait on themselves?

If the turnstiles were abolished there would be employment for several hundred what you call "Doorbell Peddlers."

It would be "Wiser and Fairer" and would give the worker a chance to pay his taxes, the same as the merchant who does not give employment.

And, also contribute greatly to the culture and development of the worker's family, which would certainly be to the betterment of our fine little city. F. A. M.

What Other Editors Say

THE PREMIUM ON WAR

(San Francisco News)
It will take $10,692,660 to run the state department, once called the "Department of Peace" by Charles Evans Hughes, during the next fiscal year.

It will take nearly $4,500,000,000 to finance government obligations arising out of past and future wars. This includes nearly a billion for the army and navy; 790 millions for veterans' benefits and administration; two billions for the bonus and some 900 millions for retirements and interest on war debts.

The "Department of Peace" appropriation would run the war and navy departments exactly 5.7 days, according to Secretary of State Hull. It would build less than half a battleship.

In other words, the United States spends $29,295 per day for peace and $12,600,000 per day for war.

Remarkable Remarks

The old conception of the child as the property of its parents, owing love and respect to them as such, irrespective of merit, must perish—Dr. John Levy, assistant professor of psychiatry, Columbia university.

Women don't brush their hair enough. If a woman would stand on her head that would be so much the better. Standing on the head brings blood to the scalp—Norman Hillier, New York City, at National Beauty Congress.

Whatever may be the facts as to a temporary "breathing spell" in other fields, we now face a permanent "grieving spell" in the field of taxation. John C. Gall, associate counsel, National Association of Manufacturers.

I cannot understand how so many of the men in this nation, who are responsible for economic oppression, war, etc., can sit in their church pews so complacently—Rev. Archey D. Ball, Englewood, N. Y.

Humor is a symbol of liberty and freedom in a country where we can see "red" siding side of politics—G. E. Vincent, ex-president, Rockefeller foundation.

The average child knows nothing about the author and cares less, and is able to read a book and judge on its merits rather than on the author's reputation.—Constance Skinner, author.

'Backward Nations' Quick to Learn Ruthless Ways of Other Countries

has shown great skill in adapting himself to modern conditions. Dictator Kemal has whipped his people into line and the old-time Turkey is rapidly disappearing. Reforms have shaken the people from Istanbul to Baghdad. Such racial terms as fez, harem, caliph, bazaar are passing out. The modern machine is transforming ancient trade routes. Expelled from Europe, the Turks no longer pretend to be European. They are proud to be Asiatics, modernized, energized, self-sufficient.

One thing the Turks have learned perfectly is the European lessons of war. With the Versailles treaty and its supplementary treaties falling to pieces, the Turks, too, are taking a hand in the general disregard of "scraps of paper." Kemal is too shrewd a ruler not to profit by Hitler's example. While pretending to observe the niceties of the Lausanne treaty, he has marched his armies into the Dardanelles zone. By express provisions that Turks were forbidden to re-fortify the straits. Therefore, they are proceeding to fortify them.

The British would be intensely alarmed over this if other troubles were not more pressing. With the Mediterranean covered with war clouds, and explosive mixtures in the Rhine sector, Britain will probably not protest too strongly against the Turks. But the tens of thousands of Anzacs who gave their lives to force a passage through the straits in 1916 must cry aloud over the futility and folly of war.

The "backward nations" have been quick to imitate the white man's ruthless policies, his insatiable greed, his love of violence. Japan, Turkey, vast tribes of Asia and Africa have come to rely on force as the greatest factor in life. Only China and India, with one-third the world's people, have refused to be swept into the false philosophy of violence. The white man's continual battering at their patience may yet accomplish its evil purpose. Then the world may well stand aghast at the welter of despair which it has brewed.

One may ponder the different state of affairs throughout the broad world if the white man had sown the seeds of love instead of hate. If he had come with blessing instead of cursing, if he had practiced brotherhood instead of enslavement. If he had governed himself by the Golden Rule in his dealings with the dark-skinned races everywhere.

What to cook and how to cook it will be explained at the Journal cooking school to be held April 29 and 30 and May 1 at the West Coast theater. If you are on a diet you don't have to go, but maybe that's one reason why you should.

There still runs through the human race a bond of sympathy. The imprisoned Canadians who have been the subjects of feverish rescue parties for the past 10 days, aroused the interest and concern of all America. That they are strangers made no difference, they were in peril at the 14-foot level of an old mine, trapped by falling rock. Rescuers were able to establish communication with the entombed men through tubes. The ever existing fear that the rescue parties might arrive too late held a thrilling interest during all the work to reach the men. The tension was relieved yesterday when the news was flashed that the rescue squad had reached the stricken men. The Journal received frequent telephone calls during the days the men were entombed asking for the progress of rescue crews, or to the progress of rescue crews, or to the progress of rescue crews.

Distance or acquaintance makes no difference when human life is in danger. It's a hopeful sign.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) Skribbles

Fashion note says there is a new craze coming out and that milady will look like a dream in murmuring pine. I've seen 'em look like a dream in blue and black, and had a nightmare myself when it came to paying the bill. Suppose this new shade was discovered by the man on the trail of the lonesome pine.

You've heard about the long lane that has no turn. This one turned this morning when Dr. Rossiter drifted into the drug store, and invited himself to have a coco cola at my expense. Said he was tired about reading where the other fellow was buying something for me, and he said I wouldn't appreciate how the other fellow felt until I bought something for some one else. Consulting my list of contributors I find that I need a milk ahead of Rossiter's coco cola.

James F. Watkins, of Balboa, officially sponsored by Mrs. Watkins, passed through Santa Ana Wednesday en route to Elsinore where they have osteopaths, chiropractors, masseurs, and hot springs. Jimmy acquired a mild case of flu and he wants to thaw out. He is the commander of Orange County post No. 42, Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L. When the Bobby Burns clan meet in annual frolic "Jimmy" is always in the midst of the fun.

I've got to get more aural accommodations. Getting more politics poured into my ear than it can house. Some of the most astonishing ambitions are confided. I can now understand why it's a good plan for the anatomy to have two ears—one for an inlet and another for an outlet. You know. Let the news go in one ear and out the other. I'm glad the political bug never bit me. It's got many a poor man in a good office.

The improvement bug is extending to the highways. Maybe it's just because the summer season is on, or maybe it's because of highway businesses wish to make their places more attractive. In any event all of this calls for larger investments, and investments give employment. Several of the business places between Santa Ana and Anaheim are doing their spring house cleaning and plenty of it.

Ed Marbel came in to see me because he wanted to see some of the things I had written about reaching the other fellow by using me. It worked.

Sometimes I am going to have courage enough to ask one of the men whom I encounter how come they have adhesive tape over a cheek or nose or some other part of the physiognomy. I'm anxious to find out whether it's a windshield or family disturbance. Maybe it's just a boil and they are trying to sell it. Their frequency is arousing my suspicion.

Ed Durling in his column "On the Side," appearing in the Los Angeles Times, says: "Disabled veteran says he committed suicide because discharged from hospital too soon. This should be thoroughly investigated. I have an idea there's something to it. I think physically fit veterans are treated too well and disabled veterans not well enough." Ed hasn't voluntarily shown me his mail since his paragraph appeared, but I presume the letter carrier left him a bunch of complaints. I am not on the veterans welfare board and make no complaint against those who are, but if the two cases I know of, somewhat superficially, by observation and more generally by common report are substantiated, it seems to me a little lift while it's common help help heal some patriotic wounds received in actual conflict.
